City Land Use Sliced To Scale

By VIRGIL FALLOON

Lincoln's city planning staff is a "bunch of cut-ups," but they're deadly serious about what they're doing.

They're cutting up the zoning and land-use map of Lincoln and weighing the pieces.

"We're computing the various land uses by percentages within the various traffic districts for the two-year Lincoln regional traffic study," explains Deputy Planning Director Ted Wilding.

"The various land uses are cut from a scale map and then weighted on a highly-sensitive laboratory scales at the State Highway Department.

Little Error

"From these weights in milligrams, the percentage of the various land uses in a given district can be computed."

Wilding said the percentage of error is less than two per cent.

This weighing technique is as accurate as manual measurement of a map and "perhaps more so, because it eliminates the human error of leaving something out," he said.

"Sometimes you can overlook a small land parcel when you're measuring a map," he explained. "But when you cut a map up to weigh it, there's no chance to miss something. What you haven't cut out is still there."

Saves Time

Wilding estimates that the weighing technique also accounts for a 25% saving in time even though the cutting process with a surgical scalpel seems tedious at times.

The pieces range from several square inches, representing an airport or other large land use, to residential lot, scaled on the map to one-sixteenth by three-sixteenths of an inch.

The little pieces are kept "surgically clean" in plastic envelopes until the weighing process.

The delicate laboratory scale can weigh a pencil mark on a piece of paper.

Hunt In Viet Nam Spurred

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — A Vietnamese officer spurred the hunt Thursday for three missing U.S. Army men, believed to be prisoners of the Communists, by offering his units $3,000 for their rescue.

Brig. Gen. Huynh Van Cao, commander of South Viet Nam's 4th Army corps, posted the reward.

A massive air and ground search already was under way in the deep south area where a government company was overwhelmed and the American advisers vanished Tuesday.

Americans

The Americans were Capt. Humbert R. Versace of Baltimore, Md., 1st Lt. James N. Rowe of McAllen, Tex., and Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer of Spring Lake, N. C.

Vietnamese survivors said both the officers were wounded in the skirmish. There was an unconfirmed report that Pitzer, a medic, also was hit.

Fragmentary reports from villagers said all three were seen walking along with their hands tied behind their backs after the Tuesday engagement, fought near Tan Phu, 140 miles southwest of Saigon.

Find Nothing

Subsequent intelligence advices placed two with a Communist band south of Tan Phu, but soldiers who sped to that region found nothing.

Casualty estimates of the 120-man Vietnamese company were revised to 16 known dead, 32 wounded and 34 missing — evidentally killed or captured.

The Communists had lined up the 16 dead along a river bank. AP photographer Horst Faas, who saw the bodies, said there were indications the group may have been wounded in the fight and shot to death later.

JFK's Grandmother Celebrates

Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, maternal grandmother of President Kennedy, celebrated her 98th birthday Thursday as she cuts cake. About 20 friends and relatives were present at a Catholic mass in her home earlier in the day. Mrs. Fitzgerald is the widow of John F. Fitzgerald, twice mayor of Boston and three times a congressman. Although her sight and hearing are good, Mrs. Fitzgerald is confined because of age to the second floor of the home she shares with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Fitzgerald in the Dorchester section of Boston.

Hundreds Injured In Coliseum Explosion

Indianapolis (AP)—A gay holiday on ice revue performance was shattered by a gas explosion Thursday night, leaving 62 known dead and hundreds injured.

Cranes labored into the morning seeking more dead under mountains of debris.

Fifty-eight bodies were recovered at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum. Four persons died en route to hospitals or under treatment.

About 4,500 persons were on hand to watch the premier performance of the ice revue when the gas explosion blew up a box seat section and sent bodies flying onto the ice. Others were buried by mushrooming structural concrete and flaming bleachers. The fire was quickly put out.

The injured, estimated in the hundreds, were being rushed to several Indianapolis hospitals in taxies, ambulances, cars and buses.

A gas explosion under the expensive box seat section was given early blame for the blast.

The explosion took place during the finale of the premiere of the Holiday on Ice revue, at around 10 p.m.

Rows of Bodies

After the blast, long rows of bodies were lined up under blankets on the ice. Other rows were started outside the building in a drizzling rain.

"They went up in the air like flies," one stunned woman said.

Methodist Hospital, near the scene, was quickly jammed with at least 40 injured, none dead on arrival. Stretchers packed the hospital halls.

The Marion County Coroner called for a large truck to gather the scattered personal belongings — mink stoles, billfolds, purses and clothing —scattered over the bloody ice and debris.

150 Hospitalized

Two hours after the blast, at least 150 injured had been admitted to two nearby hospitals. One man was dead on arrival at General Hospital. He was identified as F. L. Doyle, about 55, Pittsboro, Ind.

Fifteen of those admitted to the hospital were listed in critical condition.

At the Coliseum, about three miles east of the hospital area, three heavy cranes lifted the piled wreckage of the explosion from additional victims trapped underneath.

Morgue Set Up

A temporary morgue was set up on the Coliseum grounds, at the Indiana State Fairgrounds in northeast Indianapolis, about five miles from the downtown area.

The sections in the immediate area of the blast contained 368 people. Of that number, 128 were in box seats above the explosion. Some 240 were in temporary seats which were beneath the tumbling concrete blocks and seats. The blast sent the box seat section into the air and down again onto the bleachers.

The chorus but none of the stars of the Holiday on Ice revue were skating gaily around the rink to Dixieland music. When the explosion roared through the arena, the girls screamed and fled. A spokesman for the show said none of the troupers were known to be injured.

Brief Fire

As one giant crane lifted a chunk of blasted concrete weighing tons, flames broke out again briefly in the wreckage. Hoses were quickly turned on the area. Then rescuers seeking additional bodies ran into sparking live wires buried in the debris. Electricians quickly cut the wires at the source and the race to find someone alive went on.

Many of the dead were feared to be prominent citizens. At least a dozen of the dead women scattered over the bloody ice were expensively dressed, many in mink.

Mrs. Helen Fritz of Indianapolis, who was in a chair near the front of the rink but away from the main blast area, said:

"We were hit by the people flying through the air, then seats, bricks and concrete slabs. Then the fire broke out almost immediately. We were trying to crawl to the other side to safety. We were buried. Those people in the bleachers, they had no idea what happened." She escaped with a bruised face.

Maintenance Of Force In Germany Pledged

Washington (AP)— President Kennedy gave his word Thursday that as long as the need exists American fighting forces in Germany will be kept at their present strength.

Kennedy said some reduction is planned in no-combat personnel, such as supply forces.

"But we do not intend," the President said, "to bring back any units or personnel whose return would impair the military effectiveness of our forces in Germany as they are today. That is, more than six combat divisions."

U.S. Policy

The commander in chief told a news conference it is U.S. policy to maintain six combat divisions in Germany as long as they are required, as well as six additional combat units sent to Germany as reinforcements during the Berlin crisis of 1961.

A flurry of reports has come out of Europe that this country would reduce its military power in Germany.

The first question at Kennedy's news conference sought and brought a declaration of policy on this point.

From there on, the question - and - answer session ranged the world and out to the moon.

For example—

Q. Did the President care to comment on an accusation by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a top contender for the Republican presidential nomination, that the Kennedy administration falsifies and mismanages the news in order to perpetuate itself in power.

A. (with a grin and chuckle) "He . . . has had a busy week selling TVA and giving permission to or suggesting that military commanders overseas be permitted to use nuclear weapons, and attacking the president of Bolivia while he was here in the United States . . . I think it would not be fair for me this week to reply to him."

Would Debate

But Kennedy let it be known again that he will be ready to debate Goldwater or any other GOP nominee in next year's campaign. He let it be known, too, that he expects Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to be his running mate again in 1964.

As for rocketing men to the moon, the President put himself decidedly apart from most analysts who thought Soviet Premier Khrushchev had taken Russia out of the moon race in a recent pronouncement. The President said "I didn't get that impression at all."

Kennedy said the American space program is essential to American security.

"I wouldn't make any bets at all as to Soviet intentions," he said . . . "I think we ought to stay with our program."

Russia figured in other questions about her projected purchase of U.S. wheat. Kennedy said negotiations are in an intensive, critical stage and "we ought to know in the next days whether we are going to be successful in completing our sale."

Commenting publicly for the first time on controversy swirling around secretary of the Navy Fred Korth, whose resignation is effective Friday, Kennedy said he has no evidence that Korth "benefitted improperly from his term of office in the Navy." He said he has no evidence, either, that Korth "acted improperly in the TFX" airplane contract award.

Asked about troop reductions in the Far East, Kennedy said the schedule calls for removing 1,000 men from Viet Nam by the end of the year. The first withdrawal, he said, would be of about 250.

As far as other forces are concerned, he went on, there would have to be more study later. He noted that "we are able to move about the world much faster" and that new planes would increase airlift capacity much more.

Drug Store Explosion Kills Six In Georgia

Marietta, Ga. (AP) — A gay Halloween celebration turned into a tragedy Thursday night when an explosion in a drug store killed at least six persons and injured more than a score.

Hundreds had turned out for a Halloween parade and window-decorating contest on the town square in this city about 18 miles northwest of Atlanta.

The explosion blew out the front of the drug store shortly before 7 p.m. Glass and debris showered pedestrians in the square.

All In Store

All of the dead were in the drug store. Rescue workers continued to dig through debris in the basement of the shattered building in fear that others may have died.

A hospital spokesman said the dead were Mrs. Ralph Fowler, wife of a physician; S. A. White, an oil distributor; Mrs. Betty Carlisle, 24, an employe of the drug store; Joe Ben Carter, Mrs. Marie Butler and a Mrs. Otella Scott. All were from the Marietta area.

Cause of the explosion was not determined immediately. However, firemen at the scene said the explosion apparently was caused by leaking gas.

A spokesman at Kennestone Hospital said 25 persons were brought to the hospital, but nine were released and the others were hospitalized. One remained in critical condition.

It was not known immediately how many of the injured were children, many of whom had taken part in the parade earlier.

Penalty Reduction Bills Sent To Full Legislature

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Four bills reducing penalties in Nebraska interest rate laws—both retroactively and for the future—were advanced to the floor of the Legislature Thursday by the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee.

The committee vote was unanimous.

A heavy cloud of constitutionality hangs over the bills, all proposed by the finance industry as "remedial" measures designed to save contracts written under the unconstitutional installment sales acts and other special interest rate laws.

An attorney general's opinion, dated July 10, held in regard to a similar proposal that retroactive reduction of penalties would violate the state constitution.

Industry spokesmen told the committee at a public hearing on the bills that they nevertheless believe the measures would be constitutional.

Interest Only

As amended, at the suggestion of the finance industry, the bills would reduce to interest only the penalty applied against invalid installment sales agreements.

In addition, forfeiture of interest only would be the penalty applied to the installment loan act, the industrial loan and investment company act, and the revolving charge agreements act.

The measures:

—LB16, applying the usury penalty (forfeiture of interest) against installment sales or revolving charge agreements invalidated by a court ruling knocking out the law on constitutional grounds.

—LB17, reducing the installment loan penalty from forfeiture of principal, merchandise, interest and charges to forfeiture of interest only.

—LB18, reducing the penalty provisions in the industrial loan and investment company act from forfeiture of part of the principal and interest to payment of interest and charges.

—LB19, enacting a legislative declaration seeking to validate contracts voided by the Supreme Court ruling knocking out the installment sales acts, and directing that installment loan penalties were never meant to apply to invalid time-sales contracts.

Billions At Stake?

The committee was informed by letter from a finance industry attorney that a survey indicated that perhaps $3.4 billion in contracts written since 1959 might be at stake.

George Wruck, representing the Associated Retailers of Omaha, placed the figure at nearly one billion dollars. Early estimates had hovered near $400 million.

The high court has applied installment loan penalties against invalid time-sales contracts, thus presenting the purchaser (or borrower) with an opportunity to keep the merchandise and recover all payments made upon it.

Originally Double

LB17 originally called for a penalty of double interest, but industry representatives suggested that it be reduced to interest only in case of constitutional objections.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln quoted from a previous Supreme Court case in asking whether the retroactive features of the bill might violate the constitution.

"Other cases suggest otherwise," W. A. Sawtell Jr. of Omaha, representing the Nebraska Bankers Association, replied.

Application of the present installment loan penalty to installment sales agreements contracted within the limits of the ill-fated installment sales acts would result in "unjust enrichment," Omaha attorney R. A. Skochdopole insisted.

No one testified in opposition to the four bills.

Over 1,600 Expected For Democrat Dinner

A record off-year crowd of more than 1,600 Democrats is expected to be on hand at the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Omaha Friday night for a double feature political attraction.

Gov. Frank Morrison has announced that he will reveal his 1964 political intentions and presidential aide Ted Sorensen will deliver the major address.

Gubernatorial assistant Norman Otto Thursday said that not even the governor's closest associates have been told what Morrison's announcement will be.

"I really don't know," he said.

'Might Guess'

"I might be able to guess, but he just hasn't said what he's going to do."

If the final attendance figure stays near 1,600, the party will gross some $40,000. After expenses, everything goes into the state party treasury for later expenditure at the direction of the state central committee.

No funds will go to the national party, and, according to a new party policy, at least 50% of the net receipts must be spent on candidates during the 1964 campaign.

The largest Jefferson-Jackson Day crowd in history, some 1,782 Democrats, turned out for the 1960 dinner at which both Sens. John Kennedy and Stuart Symington spoke.

The largest off-year crowd, 1,460, turned out for former President Harry Truman in 1959.

Nebraska Native

Sorensen, special counsel to the President, is a native Nebraskan and a graduate of the University of Nebraska.

He will arrive in Omaha at 3:30 p.m., hold a press conference at 4:30 p.m., then address the dinner at 7 p.m.

The dinner will be held at the Civic Auditorium.

Otto said the occasion has acted as "a great cohesive factor for the party. We have found a terrific cooperative spirit everywhere, and lots of enthusiasm."

Dinner chairman is Omaha attorney Clayton Shrout.

U.S. Defends W. Germany

. . . AFTER COMMIE BLAST

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — In a sharp reply to Communist attacks, the United States Thursday defended West Germany as a loyal ally and advocate of peace.

Ambassador Charles C. Stelle, the U.S. arms negotiator, told the U.N. Assembly's Main Political Committee the Soviet Union and Poland had launched "serious and slanderous attacks" against the Bonn regime during debate on disarmament.

K. V. Novikov, the Soviet delegate, said he regarded Stelle's statement as a defense of "the remnants of the German fascists, militarists and other scum of the Federal Republic of Germany."

Dispelled

And Josef Winiewicz, Polish deputy foreign minister, declared nothing Stelle said dispelled Polish fears that U.S. policy toward West Germany is sowing the seeds of nuclear war in central Europe.

Winniewicz denounced plans to have West Germany participate in the U.S.-proposed multination nuclear force under the Atlantic Alliance. He said this amounted to granting West Germany entry in the nuclear club "through the back door."

"We in Poland have too many bitter experiences of German militarism," he added. "Its atrocities are too vivid in our memories to view such moves with equanimity."

Assailed

Soviet speakers have assailed the multination nuclear forces as a roadblock in the path toward disarmament.

Stelle declared the proposed NATO force would not transfer control of nuclear weapons to West Germany or any other country. He said that the border between East and West Germany represents "the frontline of the NATO defense structure and faces the possibility of being the first target of potential aggression. It must be assured of adequate defense."

West Germany is not a member of the United Nations but maintains an observer mission at U.N. headquarters.

Scapegoat

"We all know," said Stelle, "how tempting it is to the Communists to make a country not present among us a scapegoat. We hope the members of this committee will not let themselves be distracted by meaningless and false accusations against the Federal Republic of Germany, against the United States and against NATO."

He praised Bonn as having gone farther than "any other state in demonstrating the peaceful intentions of its foreign policy . . ."

Soviets Deny 'Spy Plot'

. . . BUT U.N. TRIO REPORTED LEAVING

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet delegation to the United Nations, in a note to the U.S. delegation, denied Thursday night that three of its members had taken part in a spy plot. It protested that they had been arrested illegally.

At the same time, a Soviet delegation source said the three would leave Friday in response to a U.S. demand that they get out of the country quickly. Informed sources said they would take off from New York City Friday night enroute back to Moscow.

The three are Gleb A. Pavlov, 39, attache; Yuri A. Romashin, 38, third secretary, and Vladimir I. Olenev, 37, employe of the Soviet delegation.

The Soviet note replied to the official U.S. demand for their departure. It also dealt briefly with the case of Igor A. Ivanov, 33, of New York City, Russian chauffeur for the Amtorg Soviet trading agency. Ivanov is still held on spy charges.

"The permanent mission of the U.S.S.R. to the United Nations," it said, "categorically denies the groundless charges contained in the U.S. mission note of Oct. 30 in regard to the Soviet diplomats, Mr. Romashin and Mr. Pavlov, and in regard to Mr. Olenev, and makes a decisive protest against the illegal arrest of Mr. Romashin and Mr. Pavlov and the use of physical force against them.

"The U.S.S.R. mission expects that American authorities immediately will take all measures necessary to prevent the violation in the future of the diplomatic status to which Soviet diplomats and employes of the Soviet mission are entitled in accordance with the agreement of the U.S. government regarding U.N. headquarters."

FBI agents had picked up Pavlov, Romashin and Ivanov Tuesday night along with John William Butenko, 38, of Orange, N.J., control administrator for the International Electric Corp. of Paramus N.J.

The Soviet note differed from the FBI account of the case. The FBI had said Pavlov and Ivanov were found in Pavlov's car in the parking lot of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad station in Englewood, N.J. but the note said FBI agents "without any proof stopped the car they were driving" in the Englewood area.

In a note to the Soviet delegation Wednesday, the U.S. delegation said Pavlov, Romashin and Olenev had abused their privilege of residence by engaging in an espionage conspiracy. It demanded their immediate departure from U.S. territory. A U.S. delegation source said immediate normally meant within 48 hours.

Military Building Bill OKd

Washington (UPI) — Congress completed action Thursday on a compromise $1.6 billion bill authorizing construction of military facilities and housing both at home and abroad.

The measure, which would authorize $685 for military housing, was the result of a Senate-House compromise on earlier separate versions passed by the two chambers.

It would authorize $488 million in new construction for the Air Force, $202 million for the Navy, and $199 million for the Army...

One Foe

The bill was approved first by the House on a 356-1 vote, with Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, R-Mo, the lone dissenter. The Senate then passed it by voice vote, sending the annual authorization measure to the White House.

The compromise bill was $237 million below what the administration wanted.

It includes a controversial $2,174,000 test reactor at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. A similar private facility is to be built in New York and congressmen from that state had protested the government reactor would take away business.

Enough Work

However, Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the armed services committee, assured the house today that there would be enough work "to warrant both."

The bill includes provision for 10,140 new units of military family housing at various bases around the country.

Other major items include

—$146 million for construction of 150 Minuteman missile silos and additional test and training facilities at Grand Forks, N.D.

—$45 million for dispersal of U.S. fighter interceptor squadrons.

Hospitals

—$34 million for new hospitals at Ft. Rucker, Ala., Amarillo AFB, Texas, Eglin AFB, Fla., and Vandenberg AFB, Calif.

—$35 million for new Nike-Hercules and Hawk missile batteries and other air defense facilities in the southeastern part of the United States. These facilities highlighted the new emphasis being placed on defense from a possible air attack from Communist Cuba.

—$34 million for new reserve training facilities through out the country.

President Signs Legislation Hiking Mental Health Work

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy signed Thursday legislation he said will spur major research so that "in a few years we can confidently look forward to knowing enough about mental retardation to prevent it in most cases."

The bill authorizes a $329-million program along lines Kennedy and his family have sought for years. It includes matching grants for community mental health centers, research and education of teachers for handicapped children —the various undertakings running three or four years.

The signing was in the cabinet room, witnessed by a large congressional contingent, federal officials, representatives of organizations interested in mental health and others.

It was there that a week ago the President signed a companion bill authorizing $265 million to extend programs of mental and child health. He said then that lack of adequate care before birth and during infancy is a major cause of mental retardation.

Kennedy repeated that belief Thursday and added that the cause of mental retardation cannot now be determined in 75% of the cases.

The Associated Press reported erroneously last week that the bill signed Thursday was the one signed then.

At Thursday's ceremony, the President announced that a new division is being set up in the office of education to administer the teaching and research programs authorized under the legislation.

This new division of handicapped children and youth will be headed by Dr. Samuel Kirk, professor of education and psychology and director of the institute of research on exceptional children at the University of Illinois.

Kennedy also announced that preliminary steps to implement the program already have been taken by the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development. He said Dr. Robert A. Aldrich, director of the institute will call together soon about 60 scientists from this country and abroad to plan the research relating to premature births.

The President noted that under the legislation community therapeutic centers will take over most of the role now played by big custodial mental institutions. Over the next decade, Kennedy said it should be possible to reduce the number of patients in mental institutions by 50% or more.

Seeking to push research in coping with mental retardation has been something in which Kennedy and his family have long had a deep interest. The oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's sister Rosemary, now 44, has been in an institution for the mentally retarded for 20 years.

The President's mother gives an insight into the problems faced by a family with a mentally retarded child during a series of interviews being broadcast the past two days by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Mrs. Kennedy said she still finds it "hard to talk about Rosemary" and couldn't do it at all years ago. Then she added:

"But I want people to know it should be talked about. Not hidden—there is hope now."

Mrs. Kennedy noted that Rosemary was the third of her nine children and added: "I say that to interest the audience because some people are fearful that, if they have one child mentally retarded, they will have others. That is not very often the case."

Saying that much research is needed, Mrs. Kennedy commented there has been progress since her family first sought help for Rosemary.

"There was very little help available, even for a family with our resources . . . at that time, nobody knew much about mental retardation," she said.

Population Up

Oldest Ex-Councilman Active At 88

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln's oldest living ex-city councilman — Adolph Lebsack of 1035 So. 6th — hasn't retired yet. He will be 88 years old Friday.

Lebsack served as councilman from the second ward from 1911 to 1913, when the city changed to a commission form of government. As councilman, he was also taxation and license chairman.

He operated a dry goods and shoe store for 30 years "until the depression of the 30's," but has also been a railroad derrick operator, tax assessor, carpenter and a savings and loan association executive.

Dishwasher

"Right now I'm a dishwasher," he said in an interview Thursday. But this is so only because he refuses to retire and is helping his sons in their restaurant-tavern business.

ADOLPH LEBSACK

Born in Russia of German parents, Lebsack immigrated to America in 1893 and has been a resident of Lincoln ever since.

His first job was on a Burlington railroad wrecking crew and he advanced to the position of derrick operator before entering the dry goods field.

"I was only 17 when I got the railroad job," he said. "It's the only lie I ever told in my life. I told the railroad that I was older and they believed me because I looked it."

As a councilman, Lebsack once cast the only dissenting vote on a street car ordinance, he recalled. But a week later, the other council members unanimously joined him in amending the measure.

He was also one of the founders of a German-language newspaper, "Die Welt Post," which began publication in 1916, and was active in its early business affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Lebsack observed their 50th wedding anniversary in 1957. Mrs. Lebsack is the former Anna Mari Amen. They have five sons, two daughters and eight grandchildren.

Man Arrested For Molesting Lincoln Boy, 13

Police arrested a 47-year-old Lincoln man for molesting a 13-year-old boy in the man's home Thursday night.

Capt. Robert Sawdon said the youth was with a school group collecting donations for Thanksgiving baskets for the needy when the incident occurred. "The boy was invited into the man's house," Sawdon said "and when the youth came out of the house he told the adult supervisor the man had taken liberties with him."

Sawdon said the man will be taken to the Lancaster County attorney's office Friday morning.

New Routing OKd For State Colleges' Financial Reports

....3 Kearney Buildings Named

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Kearney—The State Normal Board Thursday voted that financial reports from state colleges be supplied through coordinator Dr. Freeman Decker.

It would be more efficient than routing them direct from the college presidents since Dr. Decker's office must file the material anyway, board members said.

The reports have been requested by the Legislative budget committee's fiscal analyst, John Quigley.

Quigley was invited to meet with the board on the matter in Lincoln, Dec. 5. He had asked for such a meeting with the board.

The board also approved a medical technology course at Kearney State. It will provide three years of study at Kearney and the fourth at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

No additional faculty members will be required to offer the course.

Also okayed was a manual arts therapy course for Peru State.

According to Decker, enrollment for the current school year was reported as: Kearney 2,337; Peru 780; Chadron 1,069; and Wayne 1,799.

He said college presidents believe their male student population was checked by a lack of housing.

"A majority of the dormitory facilities are either at or over the 100% occupancy mark," Decker related. "It is true, however, that our male enrollment is at a record high this year."

Meanwhile, three Kearney State instructors were honored by having new campus buildings named after them.

They were Dr. C. T. Ryan, professor of English for whom the $700,000 library was named; Jeannie Conrad, history teacher for whom the North Residence Hall was named; and Dr. H. G. Stout, professor of education for whom the former West Hall was named.

The three names were announced Thursday at dedication of the new library, which has seating capacity for 900 students and houses 62,000 volumes.

"Books will never be replaced by any kind of teaching machine," assured Dr. R. B. Downs, dedication speaker.

The University of Illinois schoolman said, "There are people who maintain books are old-fashioned and out of date in our fast age. They are wrong; books will survive."

Motorist Is Held Guilty By Jurors

Merrill M. Brennan, charged with motor vehicle homicide in connection with the June 1 death of Lana Eden, 16, was found guilty by a Lancaster District Court jury of 10 women and two men late Thursday.

The jury returned the verdict after four hours and 53 minutes' deliberation.

Brennan, 38, of 1011 Peach, was the driver of a station wagon which collided with the car in which Miss Eden, of 4600 Eden Circle, was riding on West Van Dorn.

Miss Lynn Lee Edwards, 16, of 5555 A, was the driver of the small foreign car in which Miss Eden was a passenger.

Miss Edwards testified that she was not sure what the driver of the eastbound Brennan vehicle was planning to do before he turned across Van Dorn into a driveway.

Brennan testified that he did not signal before making the turn, but did not see the Edwards vehicle.

Summary Of Conditions

A large surface high with a lot of cold air associated with it will be centered from Utah to Oklahoma by Friday evening and will finally be modified sufficiently on Saturday to permit the return of warmer temperatures.

Skies Friday through Saturday will be mostly fair because the air mass throughout this period will be quite dry and stable.

Cool temperatures will remain with us Friday and Friday night, but locally warmer temperatures are quite likely in north central and western Nebraska Friday night. Temperatures Saturday will be warmer over most of the Nebraska-Iowa area.

BULLDOZER . . . Moves huge pipe off Cotner Blvd.

It's All Tricks, No Treats For Police

Halloween—a busy night for Lincoln police.

Desk Sgt. Dean Leitner said he received over 100 complaints Thursday night from all parts of the city, ranging from eggs thrown on porches to teen-agers taking trick-or-treat sacks from youngsters.

Each of the complaints was investigated by police.

The Lancaster County sheriff's office said one of the few complaints it received was from Palmyra where snow fencing and debris were strewn on the streets.

The Highway Patrol reported it did not receive any complaints on Halloween pranks.

Bulldozer Needed

Motorcycle officer Larry Dvorack found a large piece of sewer pipe on Cotner Blvd. He estimated the weight of the pipe at over 1,000 pounds. Police had to call a bulldozer to move the pipe from the street.

A group of Lincoln teenagers forfeited two hours of Halloween fun when police caught them soaping windows at Calvert School.

The investigating officers called Capt. Robert Sawdon and asked what they should do with the youths. Sawdon gave the youths two choices, either come to the station or scrape the soap from the windows. The teen-agers elected to clean the windows, Sawdon said.

No Early Agreement On Post Office Land

Chicago (UPI) — Officials of the Burlington Railroad and the Post Office Department failed Thursday to reach agreement on sale of railroad land as the site for a proposed new post office at Lincoln, Neb.

A railroad spokesman said, "further meetings will be necessary which may extend over a period of several months."

There were no further sessions immediately scheduled, but a railroad official said there had been no breakdown in negotiations.

The railroad declined to reveal the specific tract under discussion because "the Burlington does not own all the land involved," a spokesman said. However, railroad officials said the site adjoins Burlington passenger station, at the west of downtown Lincoln and about five blocks from the present post office.

A railroad spokesman said, "It has to be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned." He said the Post Office Department buys the property the line will have to relocate its freight house, a truck terminal and the REA Express building.

Thursday's discussion centered around the location and amount of land needed and possible sites sor relocation of the freight house and express office, a railroad official who attended said.

One source speculated the final solution might involve trading some railroad property for certain lands owned by the government.

Subject To Ratification

Any agreement reached will be subject to ratification by the railroad's board of directors and by postal officials in Washington.

Representing the government in Thursday's 3½-hour meeting was Gilbert Mullen, chief of the real estate branch at the Post Office Department's regional headquarters in Wichita, Kan. Negotiating for the railroad were J. J. Alms, assistant vice president; J. B. Field, general land agent; D. V. Eiss, right-of-way engineer; and R. T. Cubbage, assistant general counsel.

Weaver Seeks Disqualification In Sunday Law Case

Grand Island (AP) — District Judge Donald H. Weaver of Grand Island has disqualified himself from presiding over litigation arising from the new statewide Sunday closing law.

In his written notice Judge Weaver did not give any reason for his decision.

He will ask the Nebraska Supreme Court to assign another district judge to hear the injunction suit brought by Skag-Way Department Stores, Inc., and the trial of Darrell F. Brown, an assistant manager of Skag-Way's Grand Island store, charged with violation of the law.

The injunction suit to restrain the state from enforcing the Sunday closing law, originally was set for trial Nov. 14 and Brown's trial was set for Nov. 18. It will be up to the judge assigned to the trial to set new dates for the two cases.

Mother Injured In Hit-And-Run

A mother escorting her children on their trick-or-treat rounds was injured when her car was involved in a hit-and-run accident on Adams between 12th and 13th Thursday evening.

She was in her car waiting for her children when a pickup truck hit the back of the car, police said.

Mrs. Norma J. Rutt, 29, 1220 Butler, was taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

Police said two men followed the truck and brought the driver back to the scene of the accident. The investigating officers arrested the 31-year-old Lincoln man for leaving the scene of an accident.

Sheetmetal Local Pickets 6 Lincoln Contracting Firms

Members of Sheet Metal Workers Local 541 Thursday picketed six Lincoln sheet metal contracting firms because they felt the contractors were not negotiating "in good faith," Neil Sipp, union business agent said.

The sheet metal workers walked off the job Sept. 11 after 90 days of negotiations failed to result in a new contract.

Picketed Thursday were Wentz Heating and Air Conditioning; Cornhusker Heating and Air Conditioning; Bonebright Heating and Air Conditioning; the Ray Martin Co.; the C. S. Guenzel Co., and the M. G. Lehman Air Conditioning Co.

W. Roy Kirsch of the C. S. Guenzel Co., chairman of the negotiating team for the Lincoln Sheetmetal Contractors Association, said the union tried to negotiate with individual contracts, but got "the same response" it got from the negotiating team.

Sipp said the union had "extended the courtesy" of offering individual agreements to the firms involved "before we put pickets on them."

Mark Kitchen of Kansas City, a National Labor Relations Board investigator, will arrive in Lincoln Tuesday to investigate the situation, Sipp said.

Shaft Reaches 3 German Miners

Broistedt, Germany (AP) — Rescuers drilled a shaft early Friday to an air bubble 259 feet underground where a flood trapped three German miners more than a week ago.

One of the trapped miners, Gerhard Hanusch, 43, reported the breakthrough by telephone to engineers at the surface.

It will, however, by many hours before Hanusch and his companions, Emil Pohlai, 34, and Fritz Leder, 36, can be hauled up, officials said.

Decompression Chamber

Engineers estimated this work would take eight to ten hours. Then, the men would have to go into a decompression chamber under medical supervision for several more hours. This would allow gradual adjustment from the high air pressure they lived in below to the normal atmospheric pressure.

Underground, it was the high pressure that saved their lives by holding back the floodwaters from a dam-burst that claimed the lives of 40 other miners Oct. 21.

Throughout the operation, the three miners and the rescue officials were in steady contact through a small communications tube that held a telephone line.

As the breakthrough neared one of the rescue engineers asked the trapped men:

"Do you feel a buzzing in your ears?"

"No," replied Hanusch, spokesman for the three.

"Have We Made It?"

Then, Hanusch asked:

"Have we made it now?"

"Yes, we have made it," the engineer answered.

"Then we will get over the rest too," Hanusch said.

The buzzing in the ear would have meant that air was rushing out of the gallery. That it was not was proof that the airlock on top of the shaft did not leak and that pressure inside the shaft and in the gallery was equally high.

New Routing OKd For State Colleges' Financial Reports

. . . 3 Kearney Buildings Named

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Kearney—The State Normal Board Thursday voted that financial reports from state colleges be supplied through coordinator Dr. Freeman Decker.

It would be more efficient than routing them direct from the college presidents since Dr. Decker's office must file the material anyway, board members said.

The reports have been requested by the Legislative budget committee's fiscal analyst, John Quigley.

Quigley was invited to meet with the board on the matter in Lincoln, Dec. 5. He had asked for such a meeting with the board.

The board also approved a medical technology course at Kearney State. It will provide three years of study at Kearney and the fourth at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

No additional faculty members will be required to offer the course.

Also okayed was a manual arts therapy course for Peru State.

According to Decker, enrollment for the current school year was reported as: Kearney 2,337; Peru 780; Chadron 1,069; and Wayne 1,799.

He said college presidents believe their male student population was checked by a lack of housing.

"A majority of the dormitory facilities are either at or over the 100% occupancy mark," Decker related. "It is true, however, that our male enrollment is at a record high this year."

Meanwhile, three Kearney State instructors were honored by having new campus buildings named after them.

They were Dr. C. T. Ryan, professor of English for whom the $700,000 library was named; Jeannie Conrad, history teacher for whom the North Residence Hall was named; and Dr. H. G. Stout, professor of education for whom the former West Hall was named.

The three names were announced Thursday at dedication of the new library, which has seating capacity for 900 students and houses 62,000 volumes.

"Books will never be replaced by any kind of teaching machine," assured Dr. R. B. Downs, dedication speaker.

The University of Illinois schoolman said, "There are people who maintain books are old-fashioned and out of date in our fast age. They are wrong; books will survive."

BULLDOZER . . . Moves huge pipe off Cotner Blvd.

It's All Tricks, No Treats For Police

Halloween—a busy night for Lincoln police.

Desk Sgt. Dean Leitner said he received over 100 complaints Thursday night from all parts of the city, ranging from eggs thrown on porches to teen-agers taking trick-or-treat sacks from youngsters.

Each of the complaints was investigated by police.

The Lancaster County sheriff's office said one of the few complaints it received was from Palmyra where snow fencing and debris were strewn on the streets.

The Highway Patrol reported it did not receive any complaints on Halloween pranks.

Bulldozer Needed

Motorcycle officer Larry Dvorack found a large piece of sewer pipe on Cotner Blvd. He estimated the weight of the pipe at over 1,000 pounds. Police had to call a bulldozer to move the pipe from the street.

A group of Lincoln teenagers forfeited two hours of Halloween fun when police caught them soaping windows at Calvert School.

The investigating officers called Capt. Robert Sawdon and asked what they should do with the youths. Sawdon gave the youths two choices, either come to the station or scrape the soap from the windows. The teen-agers elected to clean the windows, Sawdon said.

No Early Agreement On Post Office Land

Chicago (UPI) — Officials of the Burlington Railroad and the Post Office Department failed Thursday to reach agreement on sale of railroad land as the site for a proposed new post office at Lincoln, Neb.

A railroad spokesman said, "further meetings will be necessary which may extend over a period of several months."

There were no further sessions immediately scheduled, but a railroad official said there had been no breakdown in negotiations.

The railroad declined to reveal the specific tract under discussion because "the Burlington does not own all the land involved," a spokesman said. However, railroad officials said the site adjoins Burlington passenger station, at the west of downtown Lincoln and about five blocks from the present post office.

A railroad spokesman said, "It has to be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned." He said the Post Office Department buys the property the line will have to relocate its freight house, a truck terminal and the REA Express building.

Thursday's discussion centered around the location and amount of land needed and possible sites sor relocation of the freight house and express office, a railroad official who attended said.

One source speculated the final solution might involve trading some railroad property for certain lands owned by the government.

Subject To Ratification

Any agreement reached will be subject to ratification by the railroad's board of directors and by postal officials in Washington.

Representing the government in Thursday's 3½-hour meeting was Gilbert Mullen, chief of the real estate branch at the Post Office Department's regional headquarters in Wichita, Kan. Negotiating for the railroad were J. J. Alms, assistant vice president; J. B. Field, general land agent; D. V. Eiss, right-of-way engineer; and R. T. Cubbage, assistant general counsel.

Weaver Seeks Disqualification In Sunday Law Case

Grand Island (AP) — District Judge Donald H. Weaver of Grand Island has disqualified himself from presiding over litigation arising from the new statewide Sunday closing law.

In his written notice Judge Weaver did not give any reason for his decision.

He will ask the Nebraska Supreme Court to assign another district judge to hear the injunction suit brought by Skag-Way Department Stores, Inc., and the trial of Darrell F. Brown, an assistant manager of Skag-Way's Grand Island store, charged with violation of the law.

The injunction suit to restrain the state from enforcing the Sunday closing law, originally was set for trial Nov. 14 and Brown's trial was set for Nov. 18. It will be up to the judge assigned to the trial to set new dates for the two cases.

Mother Injured In Hit-And-Run

A mother escorting her children on their trick-or-treat rounds was injured when her car was involved in a hit-and-run accident on Adams between 12th and 13th Thursday evening.

She was in her car waiting for her children when a pick-up truck hit the back of the car, police said.

Mrs. Norma J. Rutt, 29, 1220 Butler, was taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

Police said two men followed the truck and brought the driver back to the scene of the accident. The investigating officers arrested the 31-year-old Lincoln man for leaving the scene of an accident.

Sheetmetal Local Pickets 6 Lincoln Contracting Firms

Members of Sheet Metal Workers Local 541 Thursday picketed six Lincoln sheet metal contracting firms because they felt the contractors were not negotiating "in good faith," Neil Sipp, union business agent said.

The sheet metal workers walked off the job Sept. 11 after 90 days of negotiations failed to result in a new contract.

Picketed Thursday were Wentz Heating and Air Conditioning; Cornhusker Heating and Air Conditioning; Bonebright Heating and Air Conditioning; the Ray Martin Co.; the C. S. Guenzel Co., and the M. G. Lehman Air Conditioning Co.

W. Roy Kirsch of the C. S. Guenzel Co., chairman of the negotiating team for the Lincoln Sheetmetal Contractors Association, said the union tried to negotiate with individual contracts, but got "the same response" it got from the negotiating team.

Sipp said the union had "extended the courtesy" of offering individual agreements to the firms involved "before we put pickets on them."

Mark Kitchen of Kansas City, a National Labor Relations Board investigator, will arrive in Lincoln Tuesday to investigate the situation, Sipp said.

Shaft Reaches 3 German Miners

Broistedt, Germany (AP) — Rescuers drilled a shaft early Friday to an air bubble 259 feet underground where a flood trapped three German miners more than a week ago.

One of the trapped miners, Gerhard Hanusch, 43, reported the breakthrough by telephone to engineers at the surface.

It will, however, by many hours before Hanusch and his companions, Emil Pohlai, 34, and Fritz Leder, 36, can be hauled up, officials said.

Decompression Chamber

Engineers estimated this work would take eight to ten hours. Then, the men would have to go into a decompression chamber under medical supervision for several more hours. This would allow gradual adjustment from the high air pressure they lived in below to the normal atmospheric pressure.

Underground, it was the high pressure that saved their lives by holding back the floodwaters from a dam-burst that claimed the lives of 40 other miners Oct. 24.

Throughout the operation, the three miners and the rescue officials were in steady contact through a small communications tube that held a telephone line.

As the breakthrough neared one of the rescue engineers asked the trapped men:

"Do you feel a buzzing in your ears?"

"No," replied Hanusch, spokesman for the three.

"Have We Made It?"

Then, Hanusch asked:

"Have we made it now?"

"Yes, we have made it," the engineer answered.

"Then we will get over the rest, too," Hanusch said.

The buzzing in the ear would have meant that air was rushing out of the gallery. That it was not was proof that the airlock on top of the shaft did not leak and that pressure inside the shaft and in the gallery was equally high.

Compromise Or Surrender

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The credit or lending industry follows the old saw which tells you never to be afraid of making a bad offer. The theory is that if you ask for the moon, there just might be someone desperate enough or stupid enough to give it to you. In the case of interest rate laws for the state, the industry is asking for the moon and may or may not get it, depending upon the intelligence and dedication of the Legislature.

It appeared a week ago as though a majority of senators had determined to provide new interest laws that would give the public the kind of protection to which it was entitled. At the present time, it is difficult to say what the senators will do but the influence of lobbyists for the industry seems to be having its effect. It was expected that the Legislature would compromise some in its approach but it is hoped the body does not surrender. There is a substantial difference. Thirty percent interest for anything or anyone is one point of surrender, not a compromise.

The Lobbyists Move In

In and of itself, any 30 percent figure is just plain too high and represents the taking of unfair advantage of the general public. There are times when an individual needs credit or a loan at any price and it is unfair to take advantage of this kind of human adversity.

Thus, the one bill in the Legislature which permits a maximum rate of 30 percent on a certain limited loan is going a long way. It is our conviction that the 30 percent top in the bill for small loans proposed by Senators Arnold Ruhnke and Terry Carpenter should be cut substantially. The top rate should be much nearer 24 or 25 percent and scaled down from there according to the size of the loan.

Then, there is the matter of penalties and other forms of credit. The Ruhnke-Carpenter bill originally upped the usury rate from 9 to 12 percent to take care of other forms of credit. This would have been sufficient and it was disappointing to see the change opposed by Gov. Frank Morrison. His opposition to the hike in the usury rate can work only toward the provision of special legislation for other forms of credit. This, in turn, leads the Legislature again down the path of questionable constitutionality. It is because legislation in the past has sought to deal in specifics that it has been declared unconstitutional and we find ourselves in the difficulty we face today.

It would be a real victory for the people if the Ruhnke-Carpenter approach could prevail with a 12 percent usury rate and a top of 24 or 25 percent for small loans. This, of course, will hurt some lenders. It will hurt in the new and used car field where business would have to be done under the usury provisions at a top of 12 percent. Car dealers apparently want 18 percent — not an outlandish figure but certainly a generous one. Hurt, too, would be firms, retailers mostly, that do a lot of contract and revolving charge account business. They, too, would have to operate under the usury provisions while a great deal of this business today is done at around 18 percent interest. But again, 18 percent is a lot more in favor of the merchant than the customer or the general public and the economy would not be stopped with any 12 percent rate.

One of the reasons all those in the business seem to want high interest rates is so they can be highly competitive on price while cleaning up on interest charges. With price they convince the customer he is getting a good deal and the customer never comes to appreciate the charges he is paying for the credit extended to him.

Thus, the public is often and greatly deceived through interest rates and the higher the rate, the greater the deception. Also, the high rates permit greater speculation with risk — the extension of credit where it is questionable for one reason or another to do so. When a loss is sustained here, it is made up by the honest people who live by their word and this is a basic injustice.

As for penalties, the lender who violates the law should be severely dealt with. If not, he will be a constant violator because of the small risk of doing so. Lenders who would not violate will suffer as a result of business done by the unscrupulous operator who will make a buck in whatever way he can. If penalties are not stiff, stiffer than loss of double interest, then you may as well not have any law at all. A law that costs little or nothing to ignore is a law that most certainly will be ignored.

Cracking Down On Violators

If the Legislature provides a 30 percent lid for installment loans and special legislation for other forms of credit, beyond the usury laws, it will be heading right back in the direction from which we have just come. Beyond usury of 9 percent should be nothing more, for sure, than 25 percent installment loans and 12 percent for all else—with penalties that hurt.

WASHINGTON—Next move on the Kennedy-Khrushchev agenda to ease the cold war is a consular treaty, followed by the probable opening of direct commercial air travel between New York and Moscow.

The consular treaty would permit the United States to station consulates in various parts of the Soviet, while the Russians would be able to establish consulates in the USA.

Not for 46 years, after the United States broke diplomatic relations with the new Bolshevik government following the 1917 revolution, has the United States maintained a consulate on Soviet territory; nor have the Russians on ours.

The American embassy in Moscow handles consular matters, and U.S. citizens have not traveled to any great extent in other parts of the Soviet, nor have there been extensive trade relations.

However, the consular treaty will permit the opening of consulates in various parts of the USA and USSR.

Pan American Airways and the Russians have been negotiating for some time for a direct commercial line between Moscow and New York. The chief stumbling block has been Russian desire to fly on to Havana. Aside from this, the agreement is virtually concluded.

President Kennedy received a personal call from two of his first cabinet members the other day—Justice Arthur Goldberg now on the Supreme Court, and Abraham Ribicoff, now senator from Connecticut. Goldberg had been secretary of Labor during some of JFK's most hectic labor negotiations, while Ribicoff was secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare during the early skirmishing over federal aid to education.

"You fellows!" exclaimed the president pretending to be peeved. "You fellows! Enjoying the easy life! Well, I sure miss you."

Privately both men have missed the hectic, exciting life of the cabinet too.

The Canadians still have about half a billion bushels of wheat which they can sell the Russians but haven't the port facilities to move it. The Russians may buy it —if U.S. shipping companies continue to insist on high rates—and ship it under bond through U.S. ports, then load it on foreign ships . . . Moscow is also buying about 350,000 tons of U.S. flour from West Germany. This is a cheaper deal for the Russians than shipping wheat from the United States in American bottoms. West Germany isn't permitted under an agreement with the USA to sell wheat to Russia, but it can sell flour made from U.S. wheat . . . the United States will have about 750 million bushels of wheat left on hand next June This is ample to keep the price of bread down—though some bakers are already using the Russian wheat deal as an excuse to up prices . . . out of our normal expected export of 675 million bushels of wheat, (excluding any Russian sales) one half will bring no revenue to the U.S. Treasury. It's for Food For Peace and sold under Public Law 480 which provides payment in local currencies—(helps to pay for the junkets of congressmen).

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

What Fate For Ollie, The Owl?

By MONA B. PARKER

Incredibly, there was one lone voice arising from the editorial ranks in protest to the lingering on of the autumn season, one stout vote of dissent against the lovely days of sunshine and blue skies and flowers . . .

Joan Glaser, columnist for the Greeley Citizen, described it as "sad" to have the summer season extending beyond what the calendar decreed. Tomatoes and cucumbers from late garden patches are no longer appreciated, she maintains. Everyone is ready, eager, in fact, for winter, and yet the flowers bloom on.

"When they leave, their going will not be mourned. Fall has lingered too long this year. When the usually very much appreciated becomes a chore, it's time for the guest to leave. Goodbye, summer. Absence is sure to make the heart grow fonder."

Well, to each his own. Personally, we have cherished each golden day like a beneficent bonus, knowing that all too soon it would end. Tiny tomatoes still clinging to the vine as the autumn cleanup chores go forward are hoarded like rubies in the refrigerator vault, and savored with each bite, knowing they are the last for this growing season . . .

One magnificent pink rose burst forth in an exultation of farewell outside our living-room window. With the first hard frost now recorded, the delicate pastel petals lay around and about, soon to blend with Mother Earth, but with the promise to rise again in the warmth of another springtime . . .

The only sadness for us in Indian summer is that it symbolizes a temporary end to life and growth. We have no regrets, no complaint that it has lingered on for so long . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

There is at least one other gal who won't be sorry when the fall work is at an end. Mrs. Roy Ahrndt who combines farm life and writing for the Scribner Rustler very well, wishes "someone would come up with an easy way to get those last three loads of corn in the top of the cribs."

She doesn't like it up there, she says. It's a process of kicking the corn back and then scooping, and then a combination of kicking and scooping and shoving, all the while getting skinned up and bumping one's head on the roof. And by the time one has crawled down the ladder and sat down for a minute, "they are back again with another load."

☆ ☆ ☆

Mrs. Lester Eastwood of the Pawnee Republican joined the rural sisterhood in helping out during the harvest. The majority of trucks delivering grain to the elevators have been manned by women. Some will bring a tractor and trailer full of grain, and one women even brought in two trailer loads at once, something Mrs. Eastwood calls "a responsibility I wouldn't care to assume." She herself stuck to single truckloads.

The Ord Quiz was doing a bit of worrying about the fate of Ollie. Ollie is a great horned owl, raised from an owlet by Lynn Kerchal who made a pet of him, providing meals of sparrows and starlings felled with a shotgun. Now every time the full-grown owl hears a shotgun blast, he comes in a great rush to collect his feed.

The chief cause of concern is what is going to happen to Ollie with the opening of the pheasant season and the sound of shotguns from all sides.

When a copy of Arnold's Complete Directory of Phelps County for 1909 fell into the hands of Editor Harold Spence of the Holdrege Citizen, it evoked some fond memories and some that were decidedly of the other variety. Among the latter were those called up by an advertisement for Little Lord Fauntleroy outfits for small lads wearing Buster Brown haircuts. He remembers vividly the indignities of having to endure such raiment . . . "the wide sailor-middy collar, the 'dickie' with the crossed anchors that was almost impossible for a youngster to button correctly into place, the long black ribbed cotton stockings. It was terrible!" And he recalls, too, the reaction from others of his own age "who lived on the other side of the tracks and were allowed to go around without even having to button the bottom of their knickerbockers, which flapped in carefree abandon about their legs."

Government Moves An Asset

Plans of the federal government for new post office and general office buildings in Lincoln are welcome news. Of prime importance, of course, is the factual need for these buildings. A good case can be made for both structures and a savings shown for the taxpayer in the process.

It is a fact that one of the basic difficulties with the Post Office Department in general has been its lack of facilities. The department has limped along for years with an organization and system that would not be tolerated in any modern industry.

This is not to say that the Lincoln operation has been a poor one. Lincoln has been improved, particularly in the past year, and has done a commendable job with what it had to work with. But postal service in Lincoln will be greatly improved and become much more efficient with a modern facility.

The new general office building will provide modern facilities for federal agencies now scattered throughout the city. The result, again, will be a better and more efficient operation. Rental savings alone will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

And finally, the construction will represent growth for Lincoln and an improved appearance for the city. The new Post Office building to be erected at 8th and R should greatly improve that entire part of the city, an enhancement much in need in view of the fact that the area adjoins the major Interstate access route into the city. The location of the new office building is still unknown but if it is located in the downtown area, which it will be, it cannot help but improve the city's appearance.

Disappointment Temporary

High hopes for automated teaching have been somewhat dimmed by early studies.

The Institute of Administrative Research of Columbia University has completed a survey of New York schools which have been teaching foreign language by electronic methods, using recorded tape. After checking out 5,000 students it concluded that old fashioned class room effort turned out a more informed student than the laboratory devices.

This may be disappointing but not surprising. New departures in teaching frequently make a bad showing at the outset. As good an example as any was the attempt to reform teaching by use of the sound track movies, known as visual education. The very real benefits of the methods were largely cancelled by a lack of skill in their use. Perhaps too much was expected at the outset. Certainly, much teaching effort was misapplied. But over a period of years visual education found its useful place. No new tool amounts to much until a skill has been developed in its use.

Tape recordings are tools. They are not educational systems in themselves. To say that they are inferior because of a lack of special expertness in the early period of use is as fallacious as saying that a hi-fi rendition of fine music produced by a great singer or orchestra is inferior to any rendition where performers are present.

Mostly what we have learned from the Columbia University survey is that there is much yet to be learned in respect to the best use of automation. The challenge here is not directed at the instrument but at the educators who will, we trust, in due time develop the suitable teaching skills.

Our Wayward Brother

The savant, Russell Baker, who conducts the Observer column on the editorial page of the New York Times is disturbed over the state of the nation.

Specifically he is concerned over the epidemic of steak houses spreading across the country like wild fire. He considers it an American craze, a new cult of meat worshippers, returning to primitive rites. He describes the houses as sort of temples with flaming eternal fire, attended by vestal waitresses dressed in cowboy outfits who serve the worshippers with warm, dry martinis and then present them with slabs of meat virtually raw. He laments that if a civilized person dares ask for his steak medium rare, he is sneered at.

He suggests that American gastronomy, always so frail, has met its end.

This is a serious indictment of Nebraska's most noble vocation which is, always has been, and will continue to be, the providing of an unending volume of succulent beef, deliciously flavored by corn in our fine feed lots.

Mr. Baker is wrong and a victim of an unfortunate childhood in some part of the country which never had or never understood good meat.

We feel that our ranchers and feeders have succeeded in liberating the world from leathery beef and abominable steak sauces and have glorified corn, which is one of our principal crops. It is not Mr. Baker's complaint which moves us, but rather the ravenous millions who are pounding down the doors of our steak houses to get their share of the more abundant life.

We say to our cattlemen, "Stand firm, the public is with you!"

We say to Mr. Baker, "You have been eating the wrong kind of beef, something perhaps finished off with cottonseed cake or other spurious materials! Your only trouble is you haven't learned to specify genuine Nebraska cornfed beef."

Gov. Brown Seizes California Reins

LOS ANGELES—The yeasty California Democrats have muted their ideological differences in their enjoyment of state power, but their internal fights for status are proceeding briskly.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown has now announced that he will be chairman of President Kennedy's campaign here next year. This amounts to notice to the White House that its California pet, assembly speaker Jesse M. Unruh, must fall in line.

It is also a strong hint that Governor Brown feels fully competent to deal with the question of a successor to Sen. Clair Engle, now ill, if Engle is unable to run for reelection next year.

Unruh is not around at the moment to comment. Right now he is explaining to the Far East how California operates its system of higher education. This he is amply qualified to do, as he is an astute and educated politician even though, as unkind Life Magazine photographers emphasized, he still believes against all the evidence that calories don't count.

☆ ☆ ☆

California Republicans are raising the justifiable question of whether Unruh's Asian tour is really necessary. The poor, old State Department, as usual, is in the middle, though its Unruh sponsorship unquestionably represents a political gesture by the White House. The Kennedy political aides had ample private notice that Governor Brown with broad northern California support and some from the South did not propose to put their presidential contacts in Unruh's name. Since then Unruh has enjoyed a choice White House state dinner and his tour.

What is still not clear is whether these benefices are a consolation prize or a sign of Kennedy determination to stick by Unruh, who stuck by them in 1960.

The President has been slow to acknowledge that no one political technician, no matter how adroit, can manage his California party to its and his satisfaction. It is a cross he has to carry and at times it is a real nuisance.

The heavy pressures on Governor Brown in the Engle case were reflected in his ill-judged comments on his recent conversations with Mrs. Engle. The latter naturally seeks to protect her husband's interests by refusing to discuss his future.

Besieged by the ambitious who include some of his most loyal associates, the governor naturally would like to know where he stands so he can resolve conflict before it starts. He is extremely conscious also of the state's need of a vigorous senator to cope with the Senate's southern establishment, which is so much more conservative than California.

The man who cannot borrow $25 or $50 at a fair rate of interest needs a friend, an employer, a preacher, a teacher, a social worker, the Red Cross, or the Salvation Army. He needs a loan shark like I need smallpox.

Ten percent is the best top rate. And let's put it in the Constitution.

Friday Migrations

Lincoln, Neb.

It is my opinion that the "Sport Signals" column by Hal Brown appearing in the October 30 edition of The Star requires an answer, not because of its merit but because of its obtuse attitude and pernicious implications. I seldom read Mr. Brown's column, having little interest in his journalistic efforts and even less in his biases regarding the sports world, but I was fortunate, as can well be imagined, to see his remarks in re the Husker-Mizzou tangle this weekend, and felt it would be shirking my obligations as an NU student to allow such misleading comments to go unanswered.

Mr. Brown contends that examinations should not be scheduled for migration Fridays, and implies that football should take precedence over education, and though he obviously has others in his corner, judging from comparative studies of the Bob Devaney salaries versus those of various professors in such "lesser" fields as the humanities and the sciences, there remain at the university a group of students who support an opposing outlook. Mr. Brown would have the student skip classes to see a football game. Apparently he fails to realize that 60 per cent of this season's games are played in NU territory, the initial fray commencing even before the first day of classes. The student pays dearly for an education. I think he should collect that which he pays for, exam or no. If football really is more important than scholastic matters, then by all means let the student skip the examinations; this could hardly be deemed punishment.

When Nebraska had a losing football team (and it's had some real losers), the professors continued their instruction. Now that the Huskers win more than they lose, football takes precedence, and the teachers, to the mind of Mr. Brown, should take a vacation. I am not against a pagan migration to Missouri but I've got to be shown that it must begin before classes are terminated. There has been too much "migration" of good university professors to colleges with greener money and browner football fields to allow the sports world to dictate the increasing rate at which this harrowing dilemma continues.

If post-class migrations are not possible, migrations themselves are not defensible. How now, Brown?

Over-Population

Lincoln, Neb.

Biologists are estimating that the population explosion will double the number of people on this earth by the end of the current century. Shortages of essentials of life are already showing up in various countries. Really pure water, for example, is coming to be a scarcity almost everywhere. It is a mathematical certainty that we'll have to use water that has passed through our neighbor's bathroom even more than we do today.

The population of the U.S. today is increasing at the rate of more than four million per year. The increase is constantly accelerating. Today we have five million unemployed people. Automation is reducing the number of jobs every day. And automation is only in its early stages. In many countries, over-population is already reducing the standard of living. Our own country has reached a place where increased numbers will add to our social problems, reduce our standard of living and jeopardize the comfort and happiness of all our people.

We have two possible remedies for this condition—birth control and strict limitation of immigration. It seems unfortunate that President Kennedy should recommend a revision of our quotas that would allow a substantial increase in immigration.

Half the people of the earth go to bed hungry every night. The increase of population is greater than the increase in food. There is no other problem facing the people of the earth as immediate and threatening as over-population. When communism has been liquidated and infectious diseases conquered, over-population may stand out as the greatest menace to human happiness. Our standard of citizenship is far more important than numbers.

President Kennedy received a personal call from two of his first cabinet members the other day—Justice Arthur Goldberg now on the Supreme Court, and Abraham Ribicoff, now senator from Connecticut. Goldberg had been secretary of Labor during some of JFK's most hectic labor negotiations, while Ribicoff was secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare during the early skirmishing over federal aid to education.

"You fellows!" exclaimed the president pretending to be peeved. "You fellows! Enjoying the easy life! Well, I sure miss you."

Privately both men have missed the hectic, exciting life of the cabinet too.

The Canadians still have about half a billion bushels of wheat which they can sell the Russians but haven't the port facilities to move it. The Russians may buy it—if U.S. shipping companies continue to insist on high rates—and ship it under bond through U.S. ports, then load it on foreign ships . . . Moscow is also buying about 350,000 tons of U.S. flour from West Germany. This is a cheaper deal for the Russians than shipping wheat from the United States in American bottoms. West Germany isn't permitted under an agreement with the USA to sell wheat to Russia, but it can sell flour made from U.S. wheat . . . the United States will have about 750 million bushels of wheat left on hand next June. This is ample to keep the price of bread down—though some bakers are already using the Russian wheat deal as an excuse to up prices . . . out of our normal expected export of 675 million bushels of wheat, (excluding any Russian sales) one half will bring no revenue to the U.S. Treasury. It's for Food For Peace and sold under Public Law 480 which provides payment in local currencies—(helps to pay for the junkets of congressmen).

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

What Fate For Ollie, The Owl?

By MONA B. PARKER

Incredibly, there was one lone voice arising from the editorial ranks in protest to the lingering on of the autumn season, one stout vote of dissent against the lovely days of sunshine and blue skies and flowers . . .

Joan Glaser, columnist for the Greeley Citizen, described it as "sad" to have the summer season extending beyond what the calendar decreed. Tomatoes and cucumbers from late garden patches are no longer appreciated, she maintains. Everyone is ready, eager, in fact, for winter, and yet the flowers bloom on.

"When they leave, their going will not be mourned. Fall has lingered too long this year. When the usually very much appreciated becomes a chore, it's time for the guest to leave. Goodbye, summer. Absence is sure to make the heart grow fonder."

Well, to each his own. Personally, we have cherished each golden day like a beneficent bonus, knowing that all too soon it would end. Tiny tomatoes still clinging to the vine as the autumn cleanup chores go forward are hoarded like rubies in the refrigerator vault, and savored with each bite, knowing they are the last for this growing season . . .

One magnificent pink rose burst forth in an exultation of farewell outside our living-room window. With the first hard frost now recorded, the delicate pastel petals lay around and about, soon to blend with Mother Earth, but with the promise to rise again in the warmth of another springtime . . .

The only sadness for us in Indian summer is that it symbolizes a temporary end to life and growth. We have no regrets, no complaint that it has lingered on for so long . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

There is at least one other gal who won't be sorry when the fall work is at an end. Mrs. Roy Ahrndt who combines farm life and writing for the Scribner Rustler very well, wishes "someone would come up with an easy way to get those last three loads of corn in the top of the cribs."

She doesn't like it up there, she says. It's a process of kicking the corn back and then scooping, and then a combination of kicking and scooping and shoving, all the while getting skinned up and bumping one's head on the roof. And by the time one has crawled down the ladder and sat down for a minute, "they are back again with another load."

☆ ☆ ☆

Mrs. Lester Eastwood of the Pawnee Republican joined the rural sisterhood in helping out during the harvest. The majority of trucks delivering grain to the elevators have been manned by women. Some will bring a tractor and trailer full of grain, and one women even brought in two trailer loads at once, something Mrs. Eastwood calls "a responsibility I wouldn't care to assume." She herself stuck to single truckloads.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Ord Quiz was doing a bit of worrying about the fate of Ollie. Ollie is a great horned owl, raised from an owlet by Lynn Kerchal who made a pet of him, providing meals of sparrows and starlings felled with a shotgun. Now every time the full-grown owl hears a shotgun blast, he comes in a great rush to collect his feed.

The chief cause of concern is what is going to happen to Ollie with the opening of the pheasant season and the sound of shotguns from all sides.

Government Moves An Asset

Plans of the federal government for new post office and general office buildings in Lincoln are welcome news. Of prime importance, of course, is the factual need for these buildings. A good case can be made for both structures and a savings shown for the taxpayer in the process.

It is a fact that one of the basic difficulties with the Post Office Department in general has been its lack of facilities. The department has limped along for years with an organization and system that would not be tolerated in any modern industry.

This is not to say that the Lincoln operation has been a poor one. Lincoln has been improved, particularly in the past year, and has done a commendable job with what it had to work with. But postal service in Lincoln will be greatly improved and become much more efficient with a modern facility.

The new general office building will provide modern facilities for federal agencies now scattered throughout the city. The result, again, will be a better and more efficient operation. Rental savings alone will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

And finally, the construction will represent growth for Lincoln and an improved appearance for the city. The new Post Office building to be erected at 8th and R should greatly improve that entire part of the city, an enhancement much in need in view of the fact that the area adjoins the major Interstate access route into the city. The location of the new office building is still unknown but if it is located in the downtown area, which it will be, it cannot help but improve the city's appearance.

Disappointment Temporary

High hopes for automated teaching have been somewhat dimmed by early studies.

The Institute of Administrative Research of Columbia University has completed a survey of New York schools which have been teaching foreign language by electronic methods, using recorded tape. After checking out 5,000 students it concluded that old fashioned class room effort turned out a more informed student than the laboratory devices.

This may be disappointing but not surprising. New departures in teaching frequently make a bad showing at the outset. As good an example as any was the attempt to reform teaching by use of the sound track movies, known as visual education. The very real benefits of the methods were largely cancelled by a lack of skill in their use. Perhaps too much was expected at the outset. Certainly, much teaching effort was misapplied. But over a period of years visual education found its useful place. No new tool amounts to much until a skill has been developed in its use.

Tape recordings are tools. They are not educational systems in themselves. To say that they are inferior because of a lack of special expertness in the early period of use is as fallacious as saying that a hi-fi rendition of fine music produced by a great singer or orchestra is inferior to any rendition where performers are present.

Mostly what we have learned from the Columbia University survey is that there is much yet to be learned in respect to the best use of automation. The challenge here is not directed at the instrument but at the educators who will, we trust, in due time develop the suitable teaching skills.

Our Wayward Brother

The savant, Russell Baker, who conducts the Observer column on the editorial page of the New York Times is disturbed over the state of the nation.

Specifically he is concerned over the epidemic of steak houses spreading across the country like wild fire. He considers it an American craze, a new cult of meat worshippers, returning to primitive rites. He describes the houses as sort of temples with flaming eternal fire, attended by vestal waitresses dressed in cowboy outfits who serve the worshippers with warm, dry martinis and then present them with slabs of meat virtually raw. He laments that if a civilized person dares ask for his steak medium rare, he is sneered at.

He suggests that American gastronomy, always so frail, has met its end.

This is a serious indictment of Nebraska's most noble vocation which is, always has been, and will continue to be, the providing of an unending volume of succulent beef, deliciously flavored by corn in our fine feed lots.

Mr. Baker is wrong and a victim of an unfortunate childhood in some part of the country which never had or never understood good meat.

We feel that our ranchers and feeders have succeeded in liberating the world from leathery beef and abominable steak sauces and have glorified corn, which is one of our principal crops. It is not Mr. Baker's complaint which moves us, but rather the ravenous millions who are pounding down the doors of our steak houses to get their share of the more abundant life.

We say to our cattlemen, "Stand firm, the public is with you!"

We say to Mr. Baker, "You have been eating the wrong kind of beef, something perhaps finished off with cottonseed cake or other spurious materials! Your only trouble is you haven't learned to specify genuine Nebraska cornfed beef."

Friday Migrations

Lincoln, Neb.

It is my opinion that the "Sport Signals" column by Hal Brown appearing in the October 30 edition of The Star requires an answer, not because of its merit but because of its obtuse attitude and pernicious implications. I seldom read Mr. Brown's column, having little interest in his journalistic efforts and even less in his biases regarding the sports world, but I was fortunate, as can well be imagined, to see his remarks in re the Husker-Mizzou tangle this weekend, and felt it would be shirking my obligations as an NU student to allow such misleading comments to go unanswered.

Mr. Brown contends that examinations should not be scheduled for migration Fridays, and implies that football should take precedence over education, and though he obviously has others in his corner, judging from comparative studies of the Bob Devaney salaries versus those of various professors in such "lesser" fields as the humanities and the sciences, there remain at the university a group of students who support an opposing outlook. Mr. Brown would have the student skip classes to see a football game. Apparently he fails to realize that 60 per cent of this season's games are played in NU territory, the initial fray commencing even before the first day of classes. The student pays dearly for an education. I think he should collect that which he pays for, exam or no. If football really is more important than scholastic matters, then by all means let the student skip the examinations; this could hardly be deemed punishment.

When Nebraska had a losing football team (and it's had some real losers), the professors continued their instruction. Now that the Huskers win more than they lose, football takes precedence, and the teachers, to the mind of Mr. Brown, should take a vacation. I am not against a pagan migration to Missouri but I've got to be shown that it must begin before classes are terminated. There has been too much "migration" of good university professors to colleges with greener money and browner football fields to allow the sports world to dictate the increasing rate at which this harrowing dilemma continues.

If post-class migrations are not possible, migrations themselves are not defensible. How now, Brown?

Over-Population

Lincoln, Neb.

Biologists are estimating that the population explosion will double the number of people on this earth by the end of the current century. Shortages of essentials of life are already showing up in various countries. Really pure water, for example, is coming to be a scarcity almost everywhere. It is a mathematical certainty that we'll have to use water that has passed through our neighbor's bathroom even more than we do today.

The population of the U.S. today is increasing at the rate of more than four million per year. The increase is constantly accelerating. Today we have five million unemployed people. Automation is reducing the number of jobs every day. And automation is only in its early stages. In many countries, over-population is already reducing the standard of living. Our own country has reached a place where increased numbers will add to our social problems, reduce our standard of living and jeopardize the comfort and happiness of all our people.

We have two possible remedies for this condition—birth control and strict limitation of immigration. It seems unfortunate that President Kennedy should recommend a revision of our quotas that would allow a substantial increase in immigration.

Half the people of the earth go to bed hungry every night. The increase of population is greater than the increase in food. There is no other problem facing the people of the earth as immediate and threatening as over-population. When communism has been liquidated and infectious diseases conquered, over-population may stand out as the greatest menace to human happiness. Our standard of citizenship is far more important than numbers.

Gov. Brown Seizes California Reins

LOS ANGELES—The yeasty California Democrats have muted their ideological differences in their enjoyment of state power, but their internal fights for status are proceeding briskly.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown has now announced that he will be chairman of President Kennedy's campaign here next year. This amounts to notice to the White House that its California pet, assembly speaker Jesse M. Unruh, must fall in line.

It is also a strong hint that Governor Brown feels fully competent to deal with the question of a successor to Sen. Clair Engle, now ill, if Engle is unable to run for reelection next year.

Unruh is not around at the moment to comment. Right now he is explaining to the Far East how California operates its system of higher education. This he is amply qualified to do, as he is an astute and educated politician even though, as unkind Life Magazine photographers emphasized, he still believes against all the evidence that calories don't count.

☆ ☆ ☆

California Republicans are raising the justifiable question of whether Unruh's Asian tour is really necessary. The poor, old State Department, as usual, is in the middle, though its Unruh sponsorship unquestionably represents a political gesture by the White House. The Kennedy political aides had ample private notice that Governor Brown with broad northern California support and some from the South did not propose to put their presidential contacts in Unruh's name. Since then Unruh has enjoyed a choice White House state dinner and his tour.

What is still not clear is whether these benefices are a consolation prize or a sign of Kennedy determination to stick by Unruh, who stuck by them in 1960.

The President has been slow to acknowledge that no one political technician, no matter how adroit, can manage his California party to its and his satisfaction. It is a cross he has to carry and at times it is a real nuisance.

The heavy pressures on Governor Brown in the Engle case were reflected in his ill-judged comments on his recent conversations with Mrs. Engle. The latter naturally seeks to protect her husband's interests by refusing to discuss his future.

☆ ☆ ☆

Besieged by the ambitious who include some of his most loyal associates, the governor naturally would like to know where he stands so he can resolve conflict before it starts. He is extremely conscious also of the state's need of a vigorous senator to cope with the Senate's southern establishment, which is so much more conservative than California.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

This is the party time of the year. Darling dip and hors d'oeuvre on squares of toast. Cocktails 5:30 to 7. RSVP.

This is the social custom of our times, commissioner. And if you think I am going to stand still just because one of my guests pushed a blazing luau torch into the corner mail box —. I mean we'll take this to the Supreme Court.

A man's home is his castle is what I say.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, the old castle is getting mighty shot around the edges these tourjours gai days. We may have to pull up the drawbridge while we make repairs.

I do not know why a party can do more damage than a four-alarm fire. But all cocktail parties should be attended by the Board of Underwriters.

One social custom is that everybody at the party must stand.

The room is full of chairs and couches.

There are throw rugs on the floor — you could throw yourself down on one.

No, sir. Custom decrees that we stand until divided.

United we stand.

☆ ☆ ☆

We stand with aching arches. (Young, glowing men in the pink, faint at military reviews under this sort of rigid discipline.)

The reason everybody stands is that the ladies stand.

At parties, ladies are stuffed into living Playtex and, I think, are too tightly girdled to sit down. It would cut off their breathing. So they stand.

We stand four-square and loaded with old square-face. Conversation sparkles like a glass of champagne as the song goes:

". . . marked down to $349.99 so I had to have it!"

"It's not an administration, it's a dynasty. Mark my words . . ."

"So the doc said, 'Listen, you're not an unusual case, you know! . . ."

"I didn't say she was fat. Just filling out . . ."

Crash!

What we have done for the stockholders of Owens-Illinois glass, they should give us a vote of appreciation.

The breakage of glassware these party days is a shot in the arm for the economy.

The rug cleaners buy new Cadillacs and the furniture refinishers send the kids to private schools.

If you add the word "buffet" to the invite, you have more than a problem.

One thing I would advise: Do not let them serve potato salad. Very hard to get off rugs. And when it gets on a bare floor, the guests slip in it.

"Comprehensive policy is what you should have," says the insurance man. "Call you tomorrow and we'll have lunch."

☆ ☆ ☆

One thing about the stand-up party. Nobody — nobody I know anyway — can cut chicken with a fork with one hand.

However, everybody makes a brave show of it. They try.

This accounts for the new upholstering job that must be done on the chair. Somebody tried to balance the plate on the arm and cut with one hand and — well, that's the way the chicken bounces. Unfortunately, there was a mayonnaise sauce.

☆ ☆ ☆

Cocktails with hors d'oeuvre are delicate enough. With a buffet, disaster.

You have the plate balanced in one hand. You are sawing at the chicken and wishing you could eat it by hand.

The hostess takes out a cigarette and looks helpless.

Where is your lighter? In your coat pocket. On the other side.

This accounts for the mayonnaise on the coat sleeve and the look of content on my cleaner's face. We all go to the cleaner's these jolly days.

"Therefore, though the best is bad.

"Stand and do the best, my lad."

RSVP. Come as you are! Cocktails 5:30 to 9. Buffet.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of handling ease you'd expect in a smaller car. Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior. Come on down and sit in it.

Only a car that looks as good as this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II. Come on down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do a lot more than just stand around looking beautiful. Hold its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines for it—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!

And if that combination of modest weight and potent power gives you the idea that this is one frisky car indeed, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car with a generous amount of space for legs, hips, shoulders, hats and luggage. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too. Just listen to the solid thunk of a door closing or look at the neat seams and smooth metalwork. You'll see what we mean.

Sound good so far? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this doesn't strike you as one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to do a lot more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines for it—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses*!

And if that combination of modest weight and potent power gives you the idea that this is one frisky car indeed, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a roomy car with a generous amount of space for legs, hips, shoulders, hats and luggage. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too. Just listen to the solid thunk of a door closing or look at the neat seams and smooth metalwork. You'll see what we mean.

Sound good so far? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this doesn't strike you as one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

Little Americus, Ga., Negro Girl Says Cop Struck Her

Americus, Ga. (AP) — A 14-year-old Negro girl, who has been held in jail without bail nearly three months, testified Thursday she was struck by a policeman when arrested in a demonstration protesting segregation.

"A policeman hit me on the head with a night stick," said the girl, Sallie Mae Durham, a 9th grade pupil who was among more than 200 Negroes arrested last summer.

She took the stand as attorneys fought to prove state, county and city officials have conspired to deprive citizens of constitutional rights. A three-judge federal court is hearing suits seeking injunctions against interference with integration activities and the confinement of five integration leaders.

Dungeon

She said police officers at the city and county jail refused to give her a bandage or an aspirin. She said she refused to quit singing and Sheriff Fred D. Chappell told her, "I'm going to send you over to the dungeon."

Sallie Mae said she was then confined in a small place which was not big enough to lie down in.

She was arrested Aug. 8 and charged with riot, unlawful assembly, assisting in an escape and assault and battery.

Afraid

She told the court she had given her age as 17 when arrested because she was afraid she would be sent to a reformatory.

County Attorney Warren Fortson said the girl was turned over to juvenile authorities Oct. 3 when it was learned she was only 14.

"She has not been permitted to make bail," Fortson told the judges. He explained that she was in custody of the juvenile court and the judge had been sick. The girl has remained in the county jail.

Encouraged

State Prosecutor Stephen Pace Jr. told the court that four out-of-date integration leaders encouraged resistance to lawful authority in street marches last summer.

This put them in violation of an 1871 Georgia law on attempting to incite insurrection, said Pace, who is solicitor general for this area.

Pace was asked if a group protesting school segregation would be offering combined resistance to the law.

Possibly

"Possibly so, yes sir," Pace replied. But he said there would have to be more than a simple march.

The prosecutor said five men, including the four held under the insurrection statute, had encouraged breaches of the peace and had resisted arrest, and some of them had assaulted policemen.

Pace was the first witness in a hearing on petition for an injunction against state, county and city authorities to block further prosecution of charges or other interference with integration activity.

Prisoners

The prisoners are Donald Harris, 24, of New York, a Negro graduate of Rutgers University; John Perdew, 21, of Denver, a Harvard student; Ralph W. Allen, 22, of Melrose, Mass., a student on leave from Trinity College, and Zev Aelony, 25, of Minneapolis, former student at the University of Minnesota—all charged with trying to incite insurrection—and Thomas McDaniel, 19, an Americus Negro held in $12,000 bond on lesser charges.

Petitions filed by attorneys for the men seek injunctions against Pace, State Safety Director Lowell Conner, the mayor and city councilmen, Police Chief Ross Chambliss, Sheriff Fred D. Chappell and the city of Americus.

The officials are charged in the complaint with depriving citizens of constitutional rights and conspiring "to injure, oppress, threaten and intimidate" them.

Considered

In his testimony, Pace said he considered an insurrection charge against John Barnum, local Negro leader, because of material distributed by the integrationist Sumter County Movement, of which Barnum is an official.

The prosecutor said he himself had sworn out a warrant against Barnum but destroyed it after deciding to pursue the matter before a grand jury.

He termed as insurrectionary a printed appeal to Negro parents and pupils urging a school boycott because truancy violates a state law.

Insurrectionary?

"That is insurrectionary?" he was asked.

"That is of that nature, yes sir," Pace said.

Pace said he had not informed Barnum of the charge but had told at least one newsman, the sheriff, policemen and city officials.

Not Intended

Although he testified he had not intended to prosecute the insurrection charges, Pace said he opposed bond for the four out-of-state men "as prosecuting attorney for the state." He said he felt he should take the strongest position in behalf of the state.

He confirmed published reports that the basic purpose in filing the capital charge was to deny bond to the prisoners. Asked if he had expressed hope of then negotiating with attorneys for the youths, Pace said "we tried to convince them this was not the right way to go about this."

Pace testified he had voiced objections to Negroes being registered for voting in groups because he believed it was not in the best interest for them to be "marched down by some one from outside of our area."

Sanitation Chief Urges Support For Fluoridation

State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi Thursday urged local communities across the state to support water flouridation programs.

He said such support is a "community service."

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Nebraska Section, American Waterworks Association, Filipi also urged Nebraska water works operators to improve their systems in the areas of chlorination, preventing water emergencies, record-keeping and public relations.

State Patrol Receives Safety Honors

National honors for outstanding driver safety performance were won by the State Safety Patrol in the Police Division of the 32nd National Fleet Safety Contest, Col. Dan J. Casey, patrol chief, announced Thursday.

Casey said the patrol was awarded first place in the Police Division at ceremonies held in conjunction with the 51st National Safety Congress and Exposition at Chicago.

The contest was sponsored by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The award is based on the Safety Patrol's fleet safety performance from July, 1962, through June, 1963. During the period, the patrol's officers operated 7,803,956 miles and had 1.54 accidents per 1,000,000 vehicle miles of operation, Casey said.

All accidents were counted in the contest except those occurring when a patrol vehicle was properly parked, Casey said. Winners were determined after inspection of their records by an auditor appointed by the National Fleet Safety Contest Committee.

Casey said a total of 311 fleets competed in the Police Division of the contest. He said they operated 23,868 vehicles and traveled 660,430,000 miles with a frequency rate of 16.14 accidents per 1,000,000 vehicle miles. The rate, Casey said, is one per cent higher than last year's.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Philadelphia's Loan Sharks

Philadelphia (UPI) — The reputed head of the Cosa Nostra crime organization in Philadelphia and eight other men were indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on interstate loan-shark racketeering charges.

Angelo Bruno Annaloro, 53, described by the federal bureau of investigation as crime kingpin here, has been sought since Oct. 19 when a preliminary complaint was filed here.

At least five of the other defendants already were in custody when the indictments were handed up to U.S. District Judge Thomas J. Clary.

Invalidated

U.S. Atty. Drew J. T. O'Keefe said that he has asked Secretary of State Dean Rusk to invalidate the passport of Annaloro "for travel any place in the world, except back to the United States."

Asked at a news conference whether the request assumed that Annaloro was out of the country, O'Keefe answered, "we do not know. We are not taking any chances."

"If he is inside, we'll get him," O'Keefe said. "If he is outside, we'll push it."

O'Keefe said authorities know that Annaloro was "here as late as last June." When questioned about later information on Annaloro's whereabouts, the U.S. Attorney said that was in FBI jurisdiction.

Blow To Crime

He described the indictments as a "blow to national organized crime," but did not definitely link the loan-shark case here to Cosa Nostra.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said in Washington that the case involved the lending of money to three businessmen and threats to beat them when they were unable to meet payments with interest rates set at more than 100% during an eight-week period.

The other defendants were identified as Harold Konigsberg, 34, Lodi, N. J., Samuel James Roberts, 35, and Anthony Stassi, 54, both of New York; Joseph Lucignano, 40, Hoboken, N. J., Edward Skowron, address unknown, and Ignazio Denaro, 59, Armand Colianni, 47, and Philip Charles Testa, 33, all of Philadelphia.

Charged

All were charged under a new anti-rackets law which forbids use of interstate facilities, including the telephone, or interstate travel for racketeering purposes.

Konigsberg was charged with lending money at "usurious rates" to Joseph L. Zavod, real estate speculator of suburban Broomall; David Kaplan, Marvin L. Chivian, "and to others."

The indictment said Konigsberg, Stassi, Skowron and Roberts threatened the three businessmen with bodily injury and death with intent to extort money. The bill claimed that Zavod traveled to Bayonne, N. J., last June to obtain a loan from Konigsberg.

Annaloro, known also as Angelo Bruno or "A.M.", was drawn into the investigation when he complained to Konigsberg about "New Jersey money" entering the Philadelphia area, the FBI said. Later, Annaloro took over collection of the loan, the FBI said.

Testa and Roberts were held without bail last week for contempt of court after they refused to answer grand jury questions.

The grand jury charged that Roberts, who had ties with the businessmen, borrowed money from Colianni, alleged loan shark, so the debts to Konigsberg could be repaid.

Paid First

The indictment said the businessmen told their story to Annaloro, who decided that the alleged debts to Colianni, Denaro and himself would be paid first. The indictment also said Annaloro guaranteed them safety against any threats from Konisberg.

The businessmen could not pay off either loan and they were called by Colianni and Denaro on Oct. 16 and Oct. 18 and informed that protection was canceled, the government charged.

Maximum penalties for conviction on all counts would vary from 20 to 60 years in prison, with fines ranging from $10,000 to $30,000.

'Trick Or Treat' Trip Fatal

Chattanooga, Tenn. (UPI)— A speeding car swerved out of control on a street corner and slammed into four girls making Halloween "trick or treat" rounds Thursday night, killing two of the girls.

The other girls were listed in serious condition at a hospital.

Capt. O. W. Downey said Dale Pope, 6, and her sister, Mary Louise Pope, 14, were pronounced dead on arrival at Children's Hospital.

Downey said David C. Purett, 35, was charged with murder by drunk driving in connection with the deaths. The police officer said Purett apparently rounded a corner at a high rate of speed, sideswiped one car, struck a culvert, then plowed into the group of four girls standing in a nearby yard.

Two other girls, Wanda Pope, 15, and Romana Scruggs, 3, were listed in serious condition at Erlanger Hospital.

NSEA Meetings Show Increase At All 5 Sites

Attendance at the five Nebraska State Education Association district teachers conventions last week was 14,944—shattering the all-time mark by more than 800.

The NSEA report Thursday noted the every convention city had increased attendance over 1962, which was the previous record year.

The breakdown by cities showed Lincoln with 4,032, up 525 over 1962; Omaha 4,293, up 103; Norfolk 1,830 up 56; Kearney 3,393, up 189, and Alliance 1,392, up four.

JURY PICKED FOR THOMPSON TRIAL

Minneapolis (AP)— Selection of 12 jurors to hear the T. Eugene Thompson murder trial was completed Thursday. One of two alternates also was chosen.

The final jurors seated were an elderly widow, a pretty auburn-haired young woman and a former actor-comedian turned department store buyer.

Ninety-five veniremen were questioned before the 12 jurors were seated. Most were rejected after testifying they had opinions about the sensational case.

Thompson, 35, a St. Paul lawyer is accused in the death of his wife, Carol, 34, who was insured for more than $1 million. Two other men, similarly charged with first degree murder, await trial in St. Paul.

The final juror chosen was Mrs. Gertrude G. Banks, a part time hospital librarian. Hyan Segell, defense counsel, asked the widow how she would feel about sitting in judgment on a person charged with an offense "so serious" as that against Thompson.

Mrs. Banks replied she couldn't see that a man with Thompson's education and ability would be "foolish enough" to commit such a crime.

The prosecutor, William Randall, Ramsey County (St. Paul) attorney, did not object to seating Mrs. Banks.

Charles W. Bartholomew, a department store buyer, was accepted after he told the court he would listen to testimony on both sides and hold to his own opinion, even should he be in the minority. Bartholomew, silver-haired, single and about 35, said he formerly worked in a comedy team for 10 years, including four years in Europe.

Also chosen was Barbara K. Subject, an attractive auburn-haired communications worker. Miss Subject said she had read newspaper accounts of Mrs. Thompson's death but had formed no opinion.

The first alternate picked was Maynard K. Maas, 28, an airline equipment worker and an Army veteran.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

MEADOW LANE

Everyone must know by this time that this is pheasant season. There doesn't seem to be a male resident in the community who hasn't risen at the crack of dawn and headed for the cornfields in search of his prey.

And have you ever thought of the poor housewife that must also rise at the crack of dawn to prepare a breakfast fit for a giant, not to mention the task of finding his hunting boots, goose-feather jacket, canteen of hot coffee, lunch bucket and million and one little extras that the average great white hunter can't seem to do without.

On the other hand you could be one of the lucky housewives who chooses to take her life in her own hands and venture into the unknown with her husband.

But even though it is hunting season, there seems to be an array of activity centered around football games, guests and birthdays this week in Meadow Lane.

Back to the hunters for a moment—There just happened to be a pheasant fry in the Meadow Lane area last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paulson.

Their guests for an evening of pheasant and a pot luck dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ebert, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Boucke and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Lessman.

Male residents in Meadow Lane who will be 'migrating' to the football game in Missouri are Ed Eschler, Jerry Merritt and Paul Kess.

This threesome will be in Missouri for the weekend and will also be doing some pheasant scouring until their return home on Sunday.

There is no place like the farm on a chilly day in November, and Meadow Laners who will be heading for the Charles Moline farm near York on Sunday, will be Mr. and Mrs. Keith Roper and children, Vicky, Gary, Todd and Jaime.

These traveling residents will be the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Moline and will be returning home that evening.

Dinner and bridge will be on the agenda for several Meadow Lane residents this Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrington.

Their guests for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Don Conway, Dr. and Mrs. John Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kitrell.

Travelers in the Meadow Lane area last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Somerville and Cindy and Stephanie who motored to Marshalltown, Iowa, for a visit with Mrs. Somerville's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Essen.

The Somerville family left Lincoln last Thursday and returned home on Sunday.

A visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Krause this week is Mrs. Krause's mother, Mrs. Lorenz Wunderlich of St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Wunderlich arrived last Saturday and will be visiting at the Krause home until the newest addition to the Krause family arrives.

And yesterday was a very special day for Miss Elizabeth Fleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Fleck, and the reason was not only due to the fact that it was Halloween, but because it also was her birthday.

Elizabeth celebrated her fourth anniversary Halloween style with Bryan and Nancy Tresnak, Lori Fleck, Terry and Janet Andrews, Lyle Famous, Mark Jacobsen, Timmy Dolezal and her brother Mike.

Arriving this morning at the Jerome Fleck home was Mrs. Flecks mother, Mrs. Mary Clark of Geneva.

Mrs. Fleck will be visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter and family until Monday.

A recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith was Mrs. Smith's father, Vincent Dunn of Holyoke Colo.

Mr. Dunn was in the Lincoln area on business and was the houseguest of the Smith family on Sunday and Monday.

Betrothal Revealed

This morning the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Linda Ruth Williams to Larry E. Purdy, also of Lincoln and son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Purdy of Crete, is announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Williams of Crete.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Dec. 14, and the ceremony will be solemnized in Crete.

Dear Abby

Sister Is A Big Girl Now

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister who isn't the smartest person in the world, but I love her. She tells me her troubles and cries on my shoulder. She has a husband, but he's no help. (He cries on his mother's.) Well, my sis called me at 4:15 this morning and scared my husband out of his wits. She wanted to know if she should call the police to look for her 18-year-old daughter who went out on a date and wasn't home yet. She was hysterical, Abby. I'll admit she's called at odd hours for reasons like there was a mouse in her bedroom, she is terrified of thunder storms, etc. But this time she really needed me, and my husband refused to drive me over there to calm her down. (I don't drive.) He said if anything like that ever happens again, I can go live with my sister. Who was unreasonable? Him or me?

BIG SISTER

DEAR SIS: I can't blame your husband for being fed up with your sister's hysteria. Tell sis to lay off the nocturnal S.O.S.'s, or you will lose your happy home.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. J. O'S.: A pat on the back develops character — if given young enough, often enough and LOW enough.

There is no place like the farm on a chilly day in November, and Meadow Laners who will be heading for the Charles Moline farm near York on Sunday, will be Mr. and Mrs. Keith Roper and children, Vicky, Gary, Todd and Jaime.

These traveling residents will be the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Moline and will be returning home that evening.

Dinner and bridge will be on the agenda for several Meadow Lane residents this Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harrington.

Their guests for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Don Conway, Dr. and Mrs. John Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kitrell.

Travelers in the Meadow Lane area last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Somerville and Cindy and Stephanie who motored to Marshalltown, Iowa, for a visit with Mrs. Somerville's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Essen.

The Somerville family left Lincoln last Thursday and returned home on Sunday.

A visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Krause this week is Mrs. Krause's mother, Mrs. Lorenz Wunderlich of St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Wunderlich arrived last Saturday and will be visiting at the Krause home until the newest addition to the Krause family arrives.

And yesterday was a very special day for Miss Elizabeth Fleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Fleck, and the reason was not only due to the fact that it was Halloween, but because it also was her birthday.

Elizabeth celebrated her fourth anniversary Halloween style with Bryan and Nancy Tresnak, Lori Fleck, Terry and Janet Andrews, Lyle Famous, Mark Jacobsen, Timmy Dolezal and her brother Mike.

Arriving this morning at the Jerome Fleck home was Mrs. Flecks mother, Mrs. Mary Clark of Geneva.

Mrs. Fleck will be visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter and family until Monday.

A recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith was Mrs. Smith's father, Vincent Dunn of Holyoke Colo.

Mr. Dunn was in the Lincoln area on business and was the houseguest of the Smith family on Sunday and Monday.

Dear Abby

Sister Is A Big Girl Now

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister who isn't the smartest person in the world, but I love her. She tells me her troubles and cries on my shoulder. She has a husband, but he's no help. (He cries on his mother's.) Well, my sis called me at 4:15 this morning and scared my husband out of his wits. She wanted to know if she should call the police to look for her 18-year-old daughter who went out on a date and wasn't home yet. She was hysterical, Abby. I'll admit she's called at odd hours for reasons like there was a mouse in her bedroom, she is terrified of thunder storms, etc. But this time she really needed me, and my husband refused to drive me over there to calm her down. (I don't drive.) He said if anything like that ever happens again, I can go live with my sister. Who was unreasonable? Him or me?

BIG SISTER

DEAR SIS: I can't blame your husband for being fed up with your sister's hysteria. Tell sis to lay off the nocturnal S.O.S.'s, or you will lose your happy home.

Fall, Winter Weddings Planned

Wedding plans are being announced this morning by Miss Carolyn Ann Leavitt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William G. Leavitt, who will become the bride of Henry Billings McEwen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. McEwen, on Saturday, Nov. 16.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 8 o'clock in the evening at First-Plymouth Congregational Church, in the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends.

The bride-elect has chosen her sister, Miss Betty Leavitt, as her maid of honor and only attendant.

Joey Sidell will serve Mr. McEwen as best man.

Revealing plans for a wedding during the holiday season is Miss Rebecca Ann Boyer of Omaha, who has chosen Saturday, Dec. 28, as the date for her marriage to Lonnie James Bayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Bayer.

The bride-to-be, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reed Boyer of Omaha, and a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, has announced that the ceremony will be solemnized at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Dundee Presbyterian Church.

Her fiance is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law.

QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	1 ♠	?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠84 ♥96 ♦AJ752 ♣KQ83
2. ♠92 ♥AKJ5 ♦Q6 ♣KJ854
3. ♠KJ93 ♥QJ6 ♦3 ♣AJ842
4. ♠KQ2 ♥AJ83 ♦Q95 ♣KJ9
5. ♠— ♥KJ872 ♦KQ84 ♣AJ63

1. Two clubs. The hand is too good for a simple raise to two diamonds, and not quite good enough for a jump raise to three diamonds (forcing). The best way to handle hands that are in between a single and double raise is to bid a side suit first and then raise partner's suit. Such a sequence is not forcing and permits partner to go on or stop, depending upon whether or not his opening bid was a minimum.

2. Two clubs. Here the intention is to arrive at a game contract eventually, since there is an opening bid facing an opening bid, but what will ultimately prove to be the best contract is at the moment in doubt. All we can do in this situation is try to tell partner as much as possible about our high-card values and distribution.

The first step in this direction is to bid the longer suit, clubs, intending to follow this with a heart bid next. Partner will thus learn of the high-card values, since we plan to bid twice, and will also learn at the same time that the clubs are greater in length than the hearts, since, otherwise, we would have named the hearts first.

3. Double. If partner has a normal opening bid, there is a good chance of collecting a fat penalty. The double is for business, but partner is not required to stand for it if his values are offensive rather than defensive.

There is every indication that we can take four or five tricks against a spade contract, and partner will normally have three or four defensive tricks. The double is therefore likely to produce the best possible result, especially since there is no assurance that our hand can produce a game.

4. Three notrump. Game is a practical certainty and notrump is clearly the best denomination. The jump to three notrump shows 16 or 17 high-card points and notrump distribution. At the same time, the bid invites partner to go on towards a slam if he has the appropriate values.

5. Two spades. The cue-bid shows first-round control of the opponent's suit and expresses great interest in reaching a slam contract. Obviously, there are excellent prospects here for a diamond slam, and the best time to convey the good news to partner is right now.

Craft Raps Governor For 'Awful Poor Leadership'

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte took the legislative floor Thursday to rap Gov. Frank Morrison for what he termed "awful poor leadership."

It provoked a short round of discussion on the general political aspects of financing and credit legislation—a preliminary to floor discussion which will come later on specific bills.

Craft complained that the senators assembled for the special session called by the governor with "no bills before us."

He called attention to a newspaper account of the governor's threat to veto unacceptable legislation.

Instead of concrete proposals from the governor, "all we had was a bunch of threats," Craft complained.

Refused To Sponsor

He recalled also the governor's refusal to sponsor four bills to ease the penalties on dealers and financial interests who have been dealt a potential financial blow by Supreme Court decisions invalidating installment sales acts.

He noted that the governor appeared before the Banking Committee Wednesday in general support of LB11, a bill which another witness said would wipe out the industrial loan and investment company business in the state.

"Is this how we are supposed to act here," asked Craft, "wiping out a business in which millions of dollars are involved?"

"It strikes me as awful poor leadership and I personally resent it and I resent the image being propagated throughout the state of the Legislature."

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, chief introducer of LB11, arose to say Sen. Craft "did an injustice to our governor."

Ruhnke said the governor testified on the bill at Ruhnke's request.

"True, he did not introduce a bill, which he might have done," Ruhnke said. "But he did suggest amendments to LB11 and he is on record now."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha interpreted LB11 to be a measure which would "hurt the little fellow."

"I think a lot of us are forgetting we are supposed to represent the people," he said.

Ruhnke questioned Klaver's interpretation and wondered if Klaver had read the bill.

The discussion took place as the lawmakers met for 19 minutes on the ninth legislative day of the special session.

Legislative activity currently is concentrated in the standing committees which are hearing the bills which have been introduced, and floor activity is at a minimum.

Hill-Burton Hospital Fund Priority Is Recommended For Scottsbluff

The Nebraska Hospital Advisory Council Thursday gave West Nebraska General Hospital at Scottsbluff top priority for federal Hill-Burton general hospital construction funds when they become available.

Nebraska has been allocated a total of $1,209,245 in general hospital construction funds for the 1964 fiscal year, but all of these funds are committed to previous projects.

The Scottsbluff project won its priority rating for future Hill-Burton funds over a request from the Phelps County Memorial Hospital Assn. of Holdrege. The council's recommendation on priorities now goes to the State Health Board for final approval.

West Nebraska General requested $986,000 to replace its existing facilities with a new $2.5 million 100-bed hospital and school of nursing.

However, the council recommended the application be altered to stipulate that the new hospital be limited to 82 beds.

The Phelps County Memorial Hospital Association sought a 65-bed hospital to replace two existing facilities at an estimated cost of $825,000, of which $335,600 would have been subsidized by federal funds.

Under the Hill-Burton program, each project is eligible for 40% finance aid from the federal government.

Vern Pangborn, chief of the State Health Department's Hospital Division, said both the Holdrege and Scottsbluff projects were equally eligible for general construction funds.

But the council voiced the unanimous consent that the Holdrege project needed more planning.

The council said it is "evident" that doctors in the Holdrege community are not unanimous in their thinking on the need for a new hospital and because of this "divergence of opinion" the application should be deferred.

Just prior to the council vote on the matter, a telegram from Richard C. Brown of Holdrege, an officer of the Phelps County Hospital Association, was read. It strongly urged the Holdrege project be placed on the priority list in order that it would not be buried by public sentiment.

There was some concern among council members over the Scottsbluff application offending the Panhandle community's other hospital—St. Mary's General.

But Floyd Wisner, publisher of the Scottsbluff Star-Herald, said it was his opinion that a new West General Hospital would benefit St. Mary's.

"I think St. Mary's has some qualms about it," he said, "but their occupancy is high . . . and they are operating in the black."

He said construction of a new hospital fit in with the community's plan to improve and enlarge medical facilities in Scottsbluff.

The council gave first priority to the city of Crete for nursing home funds for a 40-bed addition. The project is expected to cost $525,473.

However, only $51,259 federal funds are available so the council stipulated the project cannot be started until more nursing home money accrues, sometime next year.

Douglas County Hospital received priority listing on its request for rehabilitation funds for a new $250,000 facility. The council had on hand $92,442 federal funds for the project.

No new priorities were set on chronic disease and diagnostic and treatment funds.

Fifteen applications seeking $14,752,060 in federal assistance under the Hill-Burton program had been requested. However, Pangborn noted Nebraska's allocation for fiscal 1964 totals only $1,759,347.

Applications originally had been received for 17 projects but two of these—Schuyler and Plainview—withdrew their requests at the last minute. A Hastings delegation representing the Mary Lanning Hospital informed the council it will probably apply for general hospital construction funds next year.

Pangborn told the council that if the "numerous" requests for Hill-Burton money continue in Nebraska, a 50% increase in federal assistance will be necessary to keep pace.

"This is a minimum increase necessary," he said.

Craft Raps Governor For 'Awful Poor Leadership'

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte took the legislative floor Thursday to rap Gov. Frank Morrison for what he termed "awful poor leadership."

It provoked a short round of discussion on the general political aspects of financing and credit legislation—a preliminary to floor discussion which will come later on specific bills.

Craft complained that the senators assembled for the special session called by the governor with "no bills before us."

He called attention to a newspaper account of the governor's threat to veto unacceptable legislation.

Instead of concrete proposals from the governor, "all we had was a bunch of threats," Craft complained.

Refused To Sponsor

He recalled also the governor's refusal to sponsor four bills to ease the penalties on dealers and financial interests who have been dealt a potential financial blow by Supreme Court decisions invalidating installment sales acts.

He noted that the governor appeared before the Banking Committee Wednesday in general support of LB11, a bill which another witness said would wipe out the industrial loan and investment company business in the state.

"Is this how we are supposed to act here," asked Craft, "wiping out a business in which millions of dollars are involved?"

"It strikes me as awful poor leadership and I personally resent it and I resent the image being propagated throughout the state of the Legislature."

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth, chief introducer of LB11, arose to say Sen. Craft "did an injustice to our governor."

Ruhnke said the governor testified on the bill at Ruhnke's request.

"True, he did not introduce a bill, which he might have done," Ruhnke said. "But he did suggest amendments to LB11 and he is on record now."

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha interpreted LB11 to be a measure which would "hurt the little fellow."

"I think a lot of us are forgetting we are supposed to represent the people," he said.

Ruhnke questioned Klaver's interpretation and wondered if Klaver had read the bill.

The discussion took place as the lawmakers met for 19 minutes on the ninth legislative day of the special session.

Legislative activity currently is concentrated in the standing committees which are hearing the bills which have been introduced, and floor activity is at a minimum.

Hill-Burton Hospital Fund Priority Is Recommended For Scottsbluff

The Nebraska Hospital Advisory Council Thursday gave West Nebraska General Hospital at Scottsbluff top priority for federal Hill-Burton general hospital construction funds when they become available.

Nebraska has been allocated a total of $1,209,245 in general hospital construction funds for the 1964 fiscal year, but all of these funds are committed to previous projects.

The Scottsbluff project won its priority rating for future Hill-Burton funds over a request from the Phelps County Memorial Hospital Assn. of Holdrege. The council's recommendation on priorities now goes to the State Health Board for final approval.

West Nebraska General requested $986,000 to replace its existing facilities with a new $2.5 million 100-bed hospital and school of nursing.

However, the council recommended the application be altered to stipulate that the new hospital be limited to 82 beds.

The Phelps County Memorial Hospital Association sought a 65-bed hospital to replace two existing facilities at an estimated cost of $825,000, of which $335,600 would have been subsidized by federal funds.

Under the Hill-Burton program, each project is eligible for 40% finance aid from the federal government.

Vern Pangborn, chief of the State Health Department's Hospital Division, said both the Holdrege and Scottsbluff projects were equally eligible for general construction funds.

But the council voiced the unanimous consent that the Holdrege project needed more planning.

The council said it is "evident" that doctors in the Holdrege community are not unanimous in their thinking on the need for a new hospital and because of this "divergence of opinion" the application should be deferred.

Just prior to the council vote on the matter, a telegram from Richard C. Brown of Holdrege, an officer of the Phelps County Hospital Association, was read. It strongly urged the Holdrege project be placed on the priority list in order that it would not be buried by public sentiment.

There was some concern among council members over the Scottsbluff application offending the Panhandle community's other hospital—St. Mary's General.

But Floyd Wisner, publisher of the Scottsbluff Star-Herald, said it was his opinion that a new West General Hospital would benefit St. Mary's.

"I think St. Mary's has some qualms about it," he said, "but their occupancy is high . . . and they are operating in the black."

He said construction of a new hospital fit in with the community's plan to improve and enlarge medical facilities in Scottsbluff.

The council gave first priority to the city of Crete for nursing home funds for a 40-bed addition. The project is expected to cost $525,473.

However, only $51,259 federal funds are available so the council stipulated the project cannot be started until more nursing home money accrues, sometime next year.

Douglas County Hospital received priority listing on its request for rehabilitation funds for a new $250,000 facility. The council had on hand $92,442 federal funds for the project.

No new priorities were set on chronic disease and diagnostic and treatment funds.

Fifteen applications seeking $14,752,060 in federal assistance under the Hill-Burton program had been requested. However, Pangborn noted Nebraska's allocation for fiscal 1964 totals only $1,759,347.

Applications originally had been received for 17 projects but two of these—Schuyler and Plainview—withdrew their requests at the last minute. A Hastings delegation representing the Mary Lanning Hospital informed the council it will probably apply for general hospital construction funds next year.

Pangborn told the council that if the "numerous" requests for Hill-Burton money continue in Nebraska, a 50% increase in federal assistance will be necessary to keep pace.

"This is a minimum increase necessary," he said.

Light, Airy Souffle

No pecking allowed! That's the byword in the kitchen while the souffle is in the oven. Even though the warmth, delicate cheese aroma, and expectation will draw everyone to the kitchen to see what's cooking.

When the souffle is firm gather all the family or guests to the table and then out of oven and on to the table—don't waste a minute. They'll find the airy, delightful lunch or supper dish was well worth waiting for.

ITALIAN CHEESE SOUFFLE

- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ cup flour
- 1 tablespoon powdered mustard
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- 1 cup milk
- 5 egg yolks, beaten
- 1 (8-ounch) package pasteurized process cheese spread.
- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
- ¼ teaspoon oregano leaves
- 4 stack pack crackers, finely crushed (approximately 1½ cups)
- 6 egg whites

Saute onion in butter or margarine about 5 minutes. Blend flour, mustard, salt and paprika. Gradually add milk; cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat, blend a small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks, return to saucepan, add next three ingredients. Stir until cheese melts (do not boil). Cool thoroughly. Add crushed crackers. Whip egg whites until stiff, yet moist. Gently fold into cheese mixture. Pour into an ungreased 2-quart souffle dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 50-60 minutes. Lay a piece of foil on top last 20 minutes of baking to prevent over browning. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

A Little Different

Judging from what we hear around and about, there are almost as many Beef Stroganoff recipes as there are cooks to try them. This one is a bit different and, we think, quite simple.

Beef Stroganoff

- 3 pounds lean beef
- ½ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup butter (½ stick)
- 2 cups sliced onions
- 1 large or 2 small cloves garlic, minced
- 1½ tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- ¼ cup tomato catsup
- 1-8 oz. can button mushrooms
- 1 cup mushroom liquid with water
- 1½ cups buttermilk

Cut meat into strips ½ by 2 inches and ¼ inch thick. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Coat meat with flour mixture. Brown meat slowly in butter in a large fry pan or dutch oven. When brown on all sides, add onion, garlic, Worcestershire sauce, and catsup. Drain liquod from mushrooms and add enough water to make 1 cup. Add to meat, cover and simmer about 2 to 2½ hours or until tender, adding additional water as needed (the mixture should be fairly thick when tender). Add mushrooms and buttermilk and cook over low heat only until heated through. Serve over cooked noodles or rice. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Note: May be prepared the day before and stored in the refrigerator. To heat place in 325 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes.

An Oriental Flavor In This

Rice Pilaf originated in the Orient and is such a popular dish that it goes by four names—pilau, pilaff, pilaf and pilaw. No matter which name you prefer, you'll want to try this version of a long-time favorite, Sour Cream Pilaf.

By tradition, the rice for pilaf is cooked in stock or broth so the tender grains of rice can absorb all the delicious goodness possible. Rice is so easy to cook. There's no peeling, paring or washing to get it ready. You don't need to watch or stir rice either. Once you put the cover on the rice pan, it cooks by itself.

To make Sour Cream Pilaf, cook the rice with chicken stock, lemon juice, salt and pepper, a bay leaf and butter. The rice simmers for 15 minutes and allows the many flavors to blend to perfection. Remove the bay leaf and stir in sliced mushrooms and sour cream. With a sprinkling of chopped chives on top, this dish is ready to serve.

Baked ham, either a whole ham or a half, plus two vegetables, corn and peas, make excellent accompaniments for Sour Cream Pilaf. Chicken, veal, beef or lamb will also go well with this versatile rice dish. Try pilaf soon and see why it's such a famous dish in both the Mid-East and Far-East.

SOUR CREAM PILAF

- 2 cups chicken stock
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1½ cups uncooked rice
- 1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms, sliced
- 1 cup sour cream

Chopped chives

Combine chicken stock, lemon juice, seasonings, butter, and rice in a 3-quart saucepan. Heat to boiling, stir once. Cover and simmer 15 minutes or until liquid is absorbed. Discard bay leaf, stir in mushrooms and sour cream. Heat through. Sprinkle with chopped chives before serving.

Makes 6 servings.

It's Time To Fill The Cookie Jar

Christmas cookie time is rapidly approaching, and although everyone has her own particular recipes for cookie giving, or serving, we felt that these additional goodies might be well worth the trying—You doubtless will want to add them to your file marked 'favorites'.

Here they are:

MINCE MEAT-SOUR CREAM COOKIES

(Makes about 3½ dozen 3-inch cookies)

- 1 egg
- ½ cup Sour Cream
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 1 (1 lb. 3-oz.) package yellow cake mix
- 1½ cups ready-to-use mince meat

In large bowl, combine egg, sour cream and melted butter. Beat until well blended. Gradually add cake mix. Beat until smooth after each addition. Blend in mince meat. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly buttered cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.) 10 to 12 minutes, or until lightly browned. Lift from cookie sheet to cake cooling rack. Cool. Frost with Orange Frosting.

One (9-oz.) package condensed mince meat can be substituted for ready-to-use mince meat. Follow package directions for preparing; cool before adding to batter.

ORANGE FROSTING

- 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 3 tablespoons hot water
- 1½ tablespoons orange juice
- 1½ tablespoons grated orange rind

In medium-size mixing bowl, combine all ingredients. Blend well. Dip top of each cookie into frosting. Place cookies frosting side up on cake cooling rack. Slip a sheet of waxed paper under rack to catch frosting. If desired, garnish with nut meats or pieces of fruit.

SPICY FIG COOKIES

A delicious old fashioned oatmeal cookie with chopped dried figs for extra flavor.

In medium bowl, beat molasses with butter and egg. Blend in sugar, then California Dried Figs and oats. Sift dry ingredients; add to fig mixture. Drop by teaspoon on cookie sheet. Bake at 350° for 10-12 minutes. Makes about 3 dozen.

CHOCOLATE PEPPERMINT SANDWICH COOKIES

Buttered baking sheet, 3 dozen, preheated 350° oven.

- ½ cup (1 stick) butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 2¼ cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ cup milk
- 1 recipe Butter Cream Filling
- Red and green candied cherries

Cream together butter and sugar; beat until light and fluffy. Add egg; beat well. Blend in chocolate. Sift together flour and baking powder; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Chill several hours. On lightly floured board, roll dough to ⅛ inch thickness; cut into rounds using a 2½ inch diameter cutter. Using smaller cooky cutters of various designs, cut center from ½ the rounds.

And with the cookies, when you serve them during the holidays, try this "something different" quickie:

MERRY CHRISTMAS PINEAPPLE CUP: Combine equal amounts canned pineapple juice, cranberry juice cocktail and apple cider with several sticks cinnamon and a few whole cloves. Heat until fragrant and steamy, pour into cups and dash each with dark rum or brandy.

Try Baking Bread In A Skillet

In this era of handy electrical appliances cooking is far easier than it once was. Scarcely a home these days is without its electric skillet—and here is a recipe that skillet will welcome heartily —and so will your family and guests.

Two More Sunday Closing Restraining Orders Issued

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Thursday issued two more orders restraining the enforcement of the Sunday closing law.

Hearing on declaratory judgments sought in suits filed Thursday by Bradfield Drug and Family Drug was set for 2 p.m., Nov. 13.

Bradfield, which names Gov. Frank Morrison, Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer, Secretary of State Frank Marsh, Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas, Mayor Dean Petersen, City Atty. Ralph Nelson, Police Chief Joseph Carroll and Sheriff Merle Karnopp as defendants, asks the court to declare the new law "illegal, invalid, inoperative, unconstitutional and void."

"Without Force of Law"

Kreimer Inc., doing business as the Family Drug, names Gov. Morrison, Meyer, Douglas, Karnopp, Petersen and Carroll as defendants and asks the court to declare the law "invalid, unconstitutional, without force of law and not applicable to plaintiff."

The law, LB710, which became effective Oct. 19, prohibits the sale of certain commodities on Sunday.

Both drug firms allege that the law was passed for the "unlawful and void purpose of attempting to restrict and control competition within retail business," is discriminatory, an abuse of police power and deprives the plaintiffs of property without due process of law.

"Provisions Vague"

They further contend that the provisions of the law are vague; that the law interferes with the right to worship and attempts to give preference to one religion over another, is in restraint of trade, and will result in substantial loss to the plaintiffs.

Judge Boyles has issued restraining orders and set Nov. 5 for hearing on suits filed by O. P. Skaggs, Four Star Drug and the QP Store, which also allege the law to be unconstitional and void.

Lancaster's 4-H Team Wins Junior Crop Judging Contest

Ogallala (AP) — The sudden shift from a buyers market to a sellers market has temporarily obscured some of the fundamental problems facing the U.S. wheat industry, more than 400 persons attending the Nebraska Wheat Show were told here Thursday.

Carl C. Farrington, vice president of Archer, Daniels, Midland Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., said huge wheat import requirements in the USSR and eastern Europe and unfavorable harvests in western Europe caused the shift. "Nature and centralized planning failures," Farrington said, "seems to be accomplishing in one year what supply-management in the United States might or might not have accomplished in four or five years."

But he said a return to the buyers market situation with intense competition is a more realistic picture for the future.

The Lancaster County 4-H Club team won the team honors in the junior crops judging contest, followed by the North Platte FFA team. The Grant FFA team No. 1 was third, the Shelton FFA fourth and the Minatare FFA fifth.

Jim Frederick of Lancaster County was high individual with a score of 465 out of a possible 500 points. Marvin Rousey of North Platte was second with a score of 463.

There were 95 entrants in the junior judging event, in which samples of wheat and corn crops were judged, along with identification of crop and weed seed.

2 City Vehicles Collide, Damage Totals Over $200

Two cars owner by the City of Lincoln Street Department collided at 10th and Q Thursday afternoon, resulting in a total of $210 damage to the cars.

Police identified the drivers of the cars as Michael D. Lipskey, 25, of 4540 No. 70th, and Harold A. Knadle, 65, of 1842 So. 49th.

Police said the car driven by Lipskey was northbound on 10th, and the car driven by Knadle was eastbound on Q.

City Building Permits Top October, 1962

City building permits for October totaled $2,678,741, City Building Inspector Ed Vorhees reported Thursday. This was approximately $232,000 more than a year ago.

However, the 1963 total so far of $20,760,260 is behind the comparable figure of $23,099,184 for 1962, which established a record high.

October starts in residential construction included 86 single-family units, $1,124,722; four duplexes, $78,690, and one four-plex, $39,478.

This is 98 units for the month and a total of 1,114 so far this year. Last year's comparable totals were 110 and 1,445.

Non-residential construction permits in October included the Lincoln Foundation Building, 215 So. 15th, $888,888, and Safeway supermarket at 4747 Pioneers, $130,000.

Minden, Germany, Resident Visits

Fritz Steinmeier (right) of Minden, Germany, visits in the Minden, Neb., Paul A. Warp home with Mrs. Warp regarding her recent visit to the former's hometown. In August Steinmeier spent some time in Minden looking at the Pioneer Village and the town, but came back to obtain some photographs to take home with him. Mrs. Warp recently spent five weeks in Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Greece and the Middle East. While in Germany she made a special pilgrimage to Steinmeier's home city where she extended greetings from the "Daughter City" in Nebraska to the "Mother City" in Germany. During their afternoon visit, Steinmeier translated the accounts of Mrs. Warp's two day visit in The Mindener Tageblatt and Friepresse newspapers.

Kuhlbergs, Hard Hit By Tragic Auto Accident, Leaving For West Coast

Howells—A new chapter has been added to the tragic Kuhlberg story with the moving of Mrs. Werner P. Kuhlberg and children, Diane, 19, and Bobby, 12, to California, where they will make their home.

The Rev. Mr. Kuhlberg, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church near here, and James Pappas, Fort Wayne, Ind., were killed near Waco, Neb., Aug. 7 in a collision of their cars. Carla Kirsch, 16, of Seward and Mrs. Pappas died later. Four Kuhlberg children and a grandson were hospitalized.

Bobby, who has been in a York hospital since the accident, will submit to further facial surgery in California.

Joan Kuhlberg took her sister, June, 9, to the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital earlier. June, who had been at Lincoln General Hospital for several weeks, was paralyzed from the waist down following the accident. She has a wheelchair and is making some progress on crutches. Joan has resumed her nurse's duties in a Pasadena doctor's office.

Nancy, 16, and John, 10 are still hospitalized at York. Richard, 21, who is employed in Schuyler, will remain there until the children at the York hospital can be moved.

The family of 10 children and their mother hopes to be reunited by Christmas. There are three other daughters living in California.

Cease-Fire Satisfies Algeria And Morocco

Algiers (AP) — Algerian and Moroccan chiefs of state returned home Thursday from the Bamako conference with expressions of satisfaction about the cease-fire agreement in their desert war.

Cheering crowds welcomed President Ahmed Ben Bella in Algiers and Moroccan King Hassan II in Rabat.

With shooting formally ordered to end at midnight Friday, Ben Bella said "we got what we wanted, first of all peace and confirmation of the rightness of our position."

King Hassan took another view of the outcome of the little summit meeting in Mali's capital.

"It is not Morocco or Algeria who came out of the Bamako conference in a more prominent position," he said, "but all of Africa."

He said the conference proved Africa "has grown to the rank of a continent capable of resolving its own problems in an atmosphere of calm and friendship."

Happy

Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, the chief mediator, flew to Geneva for a week's rest. He said "I am particularly happy that African blood will not be shed any longer."

Algeria prepared to celebrate Friday the ninth anniversary of the day when guerrilla forces moved out of the mountains of eastern Algeria to launch a rebellion against French rule. A huge parade is planned.

Ben Bella, still in the crumpled battle dress he has worn since skirmishing flared on the Algerian-Moroccan frontier a month ago, told airport greeters:

Serenity

"Our festival will be celebrated in serenity. It (Bamako) was a victory for our just cause, a victory for the Arab people of northern Africa and a victory of truth."

The cease-fire and other elements of the proposed settlement were worked out in a conference of Hassan and Ben Bella with Selassie and President Modibo Keita of Mali.

There were no fresh reports of fighting from either Algerian or Moroccan sources.

Both men pledged to withdraw their troops from the disputed frontier area, never clearly mapped when France ruled the two North African states. The exact limits of the demilitarized zone were not spelled out, but left for a commission of Algerian and Moroccan officers, aided by officers from Mali and Ethiopia.

Robert Smallbear pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court Thursday to robbery charges filed in connection with the assault and robbery of Wayne Plachy Tuesday night.

Smallbear, 36, of 1141 Dawes, was committed to Lancaster County Jail by Judge Herbert Ronin pending a pre-sentence investigation by the adult probation office.

Seven other persons were charged in Lancaster County Court in connection with the incident.

Robert E. Horn, 29, of 1819 So. 23rd, pleaded guilty and was fined $40 by Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum on an assault and battery charge.

Herman Montoya, YMCA, and Everett Smallbear, 32, of 1141 Dawes, also charged with assault and battery, entered innocent pleas and trial was set for Nov. 13.

Evelyn A. Smallbear, 32, of 1141 Dawes, pleaded guilty to a charge of concealing stolen property and was fined $50.

Charged with intoxication in connection with the incident were Montoya, Evelyn Smallbear, Albert Smallbear, Frank Saunsoci, and Vera Scott.

Plachy reported to police he was beaten and robbed of $438 in cash and checks, his billfold and wristwatch, near 11th and Dawes Tuesday night.

Plachy was treated at a local hospital and released.

Students Wanting NAACP Chapter Will Meet Friday

A meeting for college students interested in forming a youth chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Malone Community Center.

Goals of student chapters are to encourage young people to complete their education and learn to work with minority groups, according to Miss Kathereene Frenchy, chairman of the sponsoring group and NAACP Board member.

Mrs. Leola Bullock, president of the Lincoln NAACP chapter, said the youth chapter would not be a branch of the present chapter, but that the two groups probably would cooperate in activities.

Two More Sunday Closing Restraining Orders Issued

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Thursday issued two more orders restraining the enforcement of the Sunday closing law.

Hearing on declaratory judgments sought in suits filed Thursday by Bradfield Drug and Family Drug was set for 2 p.m., Nov. 13.

Bradfield, which names Gov. Frank Morrison, Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer, Secretary of State Frank Marsh, Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas, Mayor Dean Petersen, City Atty. Ralph Nelson, Police Chief Joseph Carroll and Sheriff Merle Karnopp as defendants, asks the court to declare the new law "illegal, invalid, inoperative, unconstitutional and void."

"Without Force of Law"

Kreimer Inc., doing business as the Family Drug, names Gov. Morrison, Meyer, Douglas, Karnopp, Petersen and Carroll as defendants and asks the court to declare the law "invalid, unconstitutional, without force of law and not applicable to plaintiff."

The law, LB710, which became effective Oct. 19, prohibits the sale of certain commodities on Sunday.

Both drug firms allege that the law was passed for the "unlawful and void purpose of attempting to restrict and control competition within retail business," is discriminatory, an abuse of police power and deprives the plaintiffs of property without due process of law.

"Provisions Vague"

They further contend that the provisions of the law are vague; that the law interferes with the right to worship and attempts to give preference to one religion over another, is in restraint of trade, and will result in substantial loss to the plaintiffs.

Judge Boyles has issued restraining orders and set Nov. 5 for hearing on suits filed by O. P. Skaggs, Four Star Drug and the QP Store, which also allege the law to be unconstitional and void.

Chiefs Of Both Parties Try To Block Foreign Aid Cuts

Washington (AP)— Senate Democratic and Republican leaders teamed up Thursday to try to head off deep cuts in President Kennedy's $4.2-billion foreign aid bill by offering a compromise amendment to reduce the total by $385 million.

The move was spearheaded by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Mansfield said he feared heavy cuts in the program might "jeopardize if not destroy" one of the principal basis of security and international welfare.

Backing the compromise were ranking members of both parties on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, the ranking Democrat; Sens. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa and George D. Aiken of Vermont, the ranking Republicans.

The action failed to stem plans by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., backed by a group of other Democrats, to return the bill to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a second look. The motion he plans to offer Friday would direct the committee to report back by Nov. 7.

Morse, attempting to win more support, said he would soften earlier plans to recommit the measure with instructions to the committee to reduce its money figures and set down policy guidance in line with its earlier criticism of the progrm. The instruction part will be omitted from his motion.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, claimed before Mansfield offered the compromise that the leadership had enough votes to defeat Morse's move.

It was decided to put off any voting until Friday, with the leaders' compromise motion the order of business. There was no indication that hopes for final passage this week would be revived.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a member of the foreign relations committee, launched a sharp attack on the package amendment shortly after it was offered.

He said he was importuned by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to support the original bill "as essential to our national security."

In view of that, the Tennesseean said he considered the leadership amendment "cavalier tratment of an important committee of the Senate."

"Before the fight even starts, this bill is cut to pieces by those who should be its chief supporters," Gore said.

The proposed reductions would bring the authorization measure down to $3.8 billion, still more than the $3.5 billion voted by the House.

The package amendment provides for cutting military assistance from $1.3 billion to $1 billion, development loans from $1.06 billion to $975 million and Alliance for Progress fund from $650 million to $525 million for a total reduction of $510 million.

These cuts would be partially offset by increasing the President's contingency fund to meet unforeseeable emergencies from $175 million to the $300 million figure Kennedy requested.

Gore said no reasons were offered by the leaders for their specific changes in the bill and he declared "we are not given one scintilla of justification" for increasing the President's contingency fund by $125 million.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., also on foreign relations, said he shared Gore's "apprehension about this amendment."

Should the leadership be upheld when the amendment comes to a vote, the final authorization likely would be a compromise of Senate and House totals when conferees meet later to reconcile differences of the two bills.

Italy's Catholic Bishops Hit Atheistic Communism

Rome (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishops of Italy issued a warning to the Italian people Thursday night against atheistic communism.

It was the first such joint declaration by the Italian Episcopacy since the church, starting in the reign of Pope John XXIII, began seeking a new relationship with Communist governments behind the Iron Curtain.

It also came two days after Italy's Marxist Socialists agreed at their national congress to try to become a government party after 16 years of opposition.

The Socialists were once close allies of Italy's Communists and many conservative political and church elements fear Socialists in an "opening to the left" government might open the door to Communists.

The bishops' statement made no mention either of the evolving change in Vatican-Kremlin relations or of the negotiations starting next month on a center-left government.

The statement was couched in general terms, saying:

"Today we feel it our duty to recall to your attention one of the gravest and most insidious dangers of our religion and to civil order, namely atheistic communism."

Italy's bishops, like Catholic bishops from all over the world, have been gathered in Rome since the opening of the second session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council Sept. 29.

Their message referred to this, saying the bishops felt inspired by their absence from their sees to make the statement.

The bishops went on to say that they felt obliged to make a frank statement because God wished them to be heard and they would not remain silent so long as they might help.

"The bishops of Italy remind you that the doctrine of atheistic communism has been repeatedly condemned in solemn pontifical documents," the statement said.

Ever since Pope John's encyclical "Pacem in Terris" (peace on earth), Vatican press organs have taken pains to stress that the church remained opposed to Communist philosophy.

The encyclical itself, which suggested that Roman Catholics could work with Communists in the search for peace, emphasized that Communism was unacceptable to Catholicism.

"Pacem in Terris" and the entire question of changing relations between the church and Communist governments have created a continuing controversy in Italy.

A number of critics of the change contend that the encyclical had an effect on the national election last April when the Communists registered big gains and the Catholic Christian Democrat Party suffered losses.

Retailers, Auto Dealers Seek 18% Rate

Retail merchants and automobile dealers Thursday asked the Legislature to enact an 18% interest rate law under which they can make installment sales.

The bill, LB26, was presented to the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud and held for later action.

In executive session, the committee voted 7-0 to kill LB13, sponsored by Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City, a measure proposing a 9% ceiling on installment sales charges.

LB26 would allow an 18% maximum on any loan or forbearance of money or goods repaid in equal installments of one month or less if such loans are unsecured or secured only by a chattel mortgage, conditional sales contract or pledge chattels of any kind.

The proposal is similar to a category recommended Wednesday by Gov. Frank Morrison and Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff. However, they both recommended a ceiling of 12%.

Morrison and Carpenter offered their plan as amendments to LB11, a measure sponsored by Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth and Carpenter.

Proponents of LB26 urged the committee to incorporate their proposal in LB11, but Ruhnke testified that he would oppose an 18% rate.

Following the hearing, Bowen pledged that supporters of LB26 "would make a test case immediately to test its constitutionality" if the proposal is accepted by the Legislature.

The measure was drafted by Lincoln attorney Robert A. Nelson, who acts as special assistant attorney general assigned to interest and time-sales matters. He was retained by the New Car Dealers Association.

'Fulfills Need'

"This bill fulfills a need that exists today . . . within a reasonable classification," Nelson declared.

The 18% rate would be "available to everybody" who meets the requirements as to installment payments and security, he said, thereby meeting constitutional requirements.

"Credit buying is a way of life which we don't want to upset," he pointed out.

Without a rate higher than the 9% usury limit under which installment sales could be financed, retail customers might have to borrow money from a small loan company at up to 30% interest, Nelson noted.

Violators would be subjected to forfeiture of double interest in addition to a criminal penalty.

Richard Kinman of Grand Island, president of the New Car Dealers Assn., told the committee that the bill "would allow Nebraska retailers to operate much in the same fashion as in the past."

It would allow dealers "to sell autos to persons not able to obtain money at 9%," he said. Under a 9% limit, used cars cannot be financed, Kinman said.

'Recapture Cost'

Jack Ducate of Dallas, Tex., speaking for retail merchants, said that LB26 would "at least give us a rate that will let us recapture the cost" of extending credit.

A maximum of less than 18% would "do harm to Nebraska retail merchants," he said. Ducate represents Sears, Roebuck and Company.

Finance industry spokesmen were united in their support of LB24, which would reduce the statute of limitations on contracts invalidated when a law is declared unconstitutional to six months.

Withdrawn and killed were LB14 and LB25, both of which are covered by other bills, and LB22, a measure proposing to regulate the business of debt management.

Fund Job Easy This Year

. . . BUT FUTURE HILL-BURTON PRIORITIES TOUGH

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Hospital Advisory Council had few problems Thursday in dispensing the fiscal 1964 federal Hill-Burton funds allocated to the state because most of the money already had been committed.

Establishment of priorities for future years' allocation—particularly in the category of the much-sought general hospital construction funds—was the difficult task.

Council members solved the priority question for this year by giving the West Nebraska General Hospital at Scottsbluff top rating for general hospital construction funds when they become available. (See Page 14.) At best, it means Scottsbluff may get a portion of its $986,000 request in fiscal 1965.

Already Earmarked

Nebraska's fiscal 1964 allocation in general hospital construction funds totaled $1,209,245 — but all of this amount, plus an additional $108,732 — has already been earmarked for projects under way in Lincoln, Omaha, Aurora and Norfolk.

Lincoln General Hospital lost its bid for a priority rating this year — resulting in sharp disappointment to its board members — but hospital authorities said they plan to go ahead next year with construction of the $6 million project, adding that they will continue to seek federal aid for the major costs.

By beginning initial construction on its own, Lincoln General expects to save at least $300,000 through an earlier start to offset ever-rising construction costs.

Prior committments on fiscal 1964 federal funds for nursing homes ate up all but $51,259 in this category, and the Advisory Council awarded this balance to Crete. The other $106,000 had been committed to projects at Blair, Aurora, Mullen and Seward.

The state had a total of $92,442 to award in rehabilitation funds this year, and since there were no prior committments in this category, Douglas County Hospital was awarded the total amount which will just about cover its request for $100,000.

A balance of $37,846 in uncommitted funds in the diagnostic and treatment category was left untouched for the present.

Fiscal 1964 funds available in the chronic disease category were nearly all earmarked for previous projects, leaving only a balance of $9,731.

Strong Concern

Council Member Thomas Davies of Lincoln expressed strong concern over the availability of federal funds, and said he believed the council should adopt a "more realistic" approach on fund availability to applicants.

Davies said it seems now that the council is "holding a carrot out" to dangle before prospective applicants who prepare elaborate presentations in their quest for funds which simply will not be available for a considerable time.

Davies' concern was echoed by other council members who decided that applicants should be told frankly that the funds will be a long time in coming.

On another matter, Council Member Dan Monen Sr. of Omaha asked for a breakdown of federal fund allocations between Lincoln and Omaha.

$1,693,602 For Lincoln

Hospital Division Chief Verne Pangborn reported that of the total $20,745,739 in Hill-Burton funds allocated to Nebraska since the program's inception, Omaha has received $7,399,939, compared with $1,693,602 for Lincoln.

This includes fiscal 1964 allocations, but does not include $500,000 earmarked out of fiscal 1965 funds for Archbishop Bergan Mercy Hospital at Omaha.

Kerr-Mills Financing Amendment Prepared

Sen. Don Thompson of McCook said Thursday he is having an amendment drafted to provide that all of the property tax funds which will be used to get the Kerr-Mills program under way will be repaid out of head tax proceeds.

Financing of the Kerr-Mills medical care program passed by the 1963 Legislature ran into a king-sized problem when it was discovered that the increased head tax revenue, which was supposed to fund the program, could not be collected until next year.

As a result, the State Board of Equalization had to increase the state's property tax mill levy to provide the first fiscal year's operation—estimated at some $832,000.

Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, principal introducer of Kerr-Mills legislation, has offered an amendment to cut the first year's appropriation from the general fund to $416,000.

Thompson said he will offer his amendment to provide that a portion of the increased head tax revenue be set aside over the next few years to repay this sum to the general fund.

The amendment will be offered Friday to the Budget Committee when it holds a public hearing on LB20—a measure dealing with Kerr-Mills financing and administration.

Omaha Company Bids Low On Tree Trimming Towers

Badger Equipment Co. of Omaha was apparent low bidder at $21,896 on two aerial towers for tree-trimming operations of the City Park Department.

Only other bidder was Omaha Body & Equipment Co., Omaha, at $22,733.30.

On five mist sprayers for use in the Dutch elm disease control program, Agrifirst Equipment Co., Lincoln, was the only bidder. Their bid was $21,550.

Other apparent low bidders:

—ABC Electric Co., Lincoln, $3,200, for primary electric underground line across Interstate 180 as compared with Commonwealth Electric Co., $5,670.

—International Harvester Co., Lincoln, 4,846.16 for two trucks for the park department as compared with GMC Truck Co., $5,537.88, O'Shea-Rogres Motor Co., $5,250, and Misle Chevrolet Co., $5,156.

—Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $7,634.70 for Paving District 1880 for Donald Circle near Ashworth, compared with Pioneer Paving Corp., $7,796.90.

3-Day Jehovah's Witnesses Meet Set For Beatrice

Beatrice (UPI) — About 1,000 Jehovah's Witnesses will attend a convention here, a spokesman said.

John H. McLaughlin of Lincoln, convention chairman, said the three-day meeting will start Friday night. McLaughlin, explaining the theme of the meeting, said "Jehovah's Witnesses put their emphasis on magnifying God as the creator and on teaching the Bible as the only true guide for meeting His requirements."

Local Jehovah's Witnesses services throughout southeast Nebraska and northeast Kansas will be suspended during the Beatrice meeting.

Order Continued Delaying Sunday Law Enforcement

Valentine (UPI) — District Judge A. W. Crites continued the restraining order preventing Cherry County officials from enforcing the state's Sunday closing law. Judge Crites said the order will be in effect until further order of the court.

He said his reasoning is that he has several other similar hearings pending in other counties in his district, and he will act on all of them at the same time.

The original restraining order was issued Oct. 18 by Cherry County Judge C. H. Elliott in behalf of Paul Schuster of Gordon, president of Ideal Supermarkets, located in Valentine, Gordon, Rushville, Chadron and Kimball.

Richard Kinman of Grand Island, president of the New Car Dealers Assn., told the committee that the bill "would allow Nebraska retailers to operate much in the same fashion as in the past."

It would allow dealers "to sell autos to persons not able to obtain money at 9%," he said. Under a 9% limit, used cars cannot be financed, Kinman said.

'Recapture Cost'

Jack Ducate of Dallas, Tex., speaking for retail merchants, said that LB26 would "at least give us a rate that will let us recapture the cost" of extending credit.

A maximum of less than 18% would "do harm to Nebraska retail merchants," he said. Ducate represents Sears, Roebuck and Company.

Finance industry spokesmen were united in their support of LB24, which would reduce the statute of limitations on contracts invalidated when a law is declared unconstitutional to six months.

Withdrawn and killed were LB14 and LB25, both of which are covered by other bills, and LB22, a measure proposing to regulate the business of debt management.

Fund Job Easy This Year

. . . BUT FUTURE HILL-BURTON PRIORITIES TOUGH

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Hospital Advisory Council had few problems Thursday in dispensing the fiscal 1964 federal Hill-Burton funds allocated to the state because most of the money already had been committed.

Establishment of priorities for future years' allocation—particularly in the category of the much-sought general hospital constructon funds—was the difficult task.

Council members solved the priority question for this year by giving the West Nebraska General Hospital at Scottsbluff top rating for general hospital construction funds when they become available. (See Page 14.) At best, it means Scottsbluff may get a portion of its $986,000 request in fiscal 1965.

Already Earmarked

Nebraska's fiscal 1964 allocation in general hospital constructon funds totaled $1,209,245 — but all of this amount, plus an additional $108,732 — has already been earmarked for projects under way in Lincoln, Omaha, Aurora and Norfolk.

Lincoln General Hospitai lost its bid for a priority rating this year — resulting in sharp disappointment to its board members — but hospital authorities said they plan to go ahead next year with construction of the $6 million project, adding that they will continue to seek federal aid for the major costs.

By beginning initial construction on its own, Lincoln General expects to save at least $300,000 through an earlier start to offset ever-rising construction costs.

Prior committments on fiscal 1964 federal funds for nursing homes ate up all but $51,259 in this category, and the Advisory Council awarded this balance to Crete. The other $106,000 had been committed to projects at Blair, Aurora, Mullen and Seward.

The state had a total of $92,442 to award in rehabilitation funds this year, and since there were no prior committments in this category, Douglas County Hospital was awarded the total amount which will just about cover its request for $100,000.

A balance of $37,846 in uncommitted funds in the diagnostic and treatment category was left untouched for the present.

Fiscal 1964 funds available in the chronic disease category were nearly all earmarked for previous projects, leaving only a balance of $9,731.

Strong Concern

Council Member Thomas Davies of Lincoln expressed strong concern over the availability of federal funds, and said he believed the council should adopt a "more realistic" approach on fund availability to applicants.

Davies said it seems now that the council is "holding a carrot out" to dangle before prospective applicants who prepare elaborate presentations in their quest for funds which simply will not be available for a considerable time.

Davies' concern was echoed by other council members who decided that applicants should be told frankly that the funds will be a long time in coming.

On another matter, Council Member Dan Monen Sr. of Omaha asked for a breakdown of federal fund allocations between Lincoln and Omaha.

$1,693,602 For Lincoln

Hospital Division Chief Verne Pangborn reported that of the total $20,745,739 in Hill-Burton funds allocated to Nebraska since the program's inception, Omaha has received $7,399,939, compared with $1,693,602 for Lincoln.

This includes fiscal 1964 allocations, but does not include $500,000 earmarked out of fiscal 1965 funds for Archbishop Bergan Mercy Hospital at Omaha.

Kerr-Mills Financing Amendment Prepared

Sen. Don Thompson of McCook said Thursday he is having an amendment drafted to provide that all of the property tax funds which will be used to get the Kerr-Mills program under way will be repaid out of head tax proceeds.

Financing of the Kerr-Mills medical care program passed by the 1963 Legislature ran into a king-sized problem when it was discovered that the increased head tax revenue, which was supposed to fund the program, could not be collected until next year.

As a result, the State Board of Equalization had to increase the state's property tax mill levy to provide the first fiscal year's operation—estimated at some $832,000.

Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, principal introducer of Kerr-Mills legislation, has offered an amendment to cut the first year's appropriation from the general fund to $416,000.

Thompson said he will offer his amendment to provide that a portion of the increased head tax revenue be set aside over the next few years to repay this sum to the general fund.

The amendment will be offered Friday to the Budget Committee when it holds a public hearing on LB20—a measure dealing with Kerr-Mills financing and administration.

Omaha Company Bids Low On Tree Trimming Towers

Badger Equipment Co. of Omaha was apparent low bidder at $21,896 on two aerial towers for tree-trimming operations of the City Park Department.

Only other bidder was Omaha Body & Equipment Co., Omaha, at $22,733.30.

On five mist sprayers for use in the Dutch elm disease control program, Agrifirst Equipment Co., Lincoln, was the only bidder. Their bid was $21,550.

Other apparent low bidders:

—ABC Electric Co., Lincoln, $3,200, for primary electric underground line across Interstate 180 as compared with Commonwealth Electric Co., $5,670.

—International Harvester Co., Lincoln, 4,846.16 for two trucks for the park department as compared with GMC Truck Co., $5,537.88; O'Shea-Rogres Motor Co., $5,288, and Misle Chevrolet Co., $5,156.

—Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $7,634.70 for Paving District 1880 for Donald Circle near Aylesworth, compared with Pioneer Paving Corp., $7,796.90.

3-Day Jehovah's Witnesses Meet Set For Beatrice

Beatrice (UPI) — About 1,000 Jehovah's Witnesses will attend a convention here, a spokesman said.

John H. McLaughlin of Lincoln, convention chairman, said the three-day meeting will start Friday night. McLaughlin, explaining the theme of the meeting, said "Jehovah's Witnesses put their emphasis on magnifying God as the creator and on teaching the Bible as the only true guide for meeting His requirements."

Local Jehovah's Witnesses services throughout southeast Nebraska and northeast Kansas will be suspended during the Beatrice meeting.

Order Continued Delaying Sunday Law Enforcement

Valentine (UPI) — District Judge A. W. Crites continued the restraining order preventing Cherry County officials from enforcing the state's Sunday closing law. Judge Crites said the order will be in effect until further order of the court.

He said his reasoning is that he has several other similar hearings pending in other counties in his district, and he will act on all of them at the same time.

The original restraining order was issued Oct. 18 by Cherry County Judge C. H. Elliott in behalf of Paul Schuster of Gordon, president of Ideal Supermarkets, located in Valentine, Gordon, Rushville, Chadron and Kimball.

FOYT EXONERATED

...Cleared Of Slugging Charge

Indianapolis (AP)— The U.S. Auto Club cleared big car racing champion A. J. Foyt Thursday of charges that he slugged another driver.

The 19-member USAC board deliberated only 30 minutes before announcing its unanimous decision after a hearing requested by the Houston driver. Foyt was accused of belting Johnny White of Warren, Mich., after an Oct. 5 race at Williams Grove, Pa., Speedway.

The fiery Foyt, who recently finished a year's USAC probation for allegedly threatening a Milwaukee promoter, admitted only that he and White had discussed what Foyt said was White's failure to obey the move-over flag on several occasions.

White did not appear at the hearing, which was conducted by George Ober, USAC vice president.

The directors also exonerated Foyt of charges that he made obscene gestures to the crowd after Foyt explained, "All I did was bow."

USAC suspended Foyt two days after the incident for "conduct detrimental to racing." That suspension was lifted two days later.

No Witness

There was no eyewitness testimony about the alleged slugging, although Joe Pittman, a mechanic for White, said Foyt "called me a bad name and pushed me to the ground."

Foyt said he did push Pittman, but only after Pittman had pushed him.

Harry McQuinn of Indianapolis, chief USAC championship race steward, testified that Foyt has "conducted himself like a gentleman, has adhered to all the rules and regulations and has been an excellent example of USAC in the past year."

By demanding the hearing Foyt risked a fine up to $1,000 and a year's suspension. Instead, he received a refund of the $100 hearing bond he had been required to post.

Hohn's Status Remains Unsure

... BEATRICE BACK NAMED TO TRAVEL SQUAD

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Bob Hohn, Husker right halfback, remained in the Nebraska Student Health Center Thursday night, but a hopeful Bob Devaney included the Beatrice native on the NU traveling squad that will leave at noon today for Missouri.

Hohn was admitted to the student hospital Wednesday night in an effort to find a cure for persistent headaches which have been bothering the Husker back.

"The trainers say there is a chance he can go and we are hoping he will be okay," the NU head coach said. "We are including him in our travel plans."

However, Devaney noted that if Hohn is still bothered by the headaches this morning, then his place on the 36-man traveling squad will be taken by someone else.

Hohn has been one of the Huskers best backs both offensively and defensively and was called "the best all-around football player we have," by Devaney earlier in the week.

If Hohn is unable to play, the main duties at right halfback will fall on Kent McCloughan. McCloughan and Hohn have been battling closely for the top right halfback spot all season.

The 36-man NU traveling squad will leave Lincoln shortly after noon today via three DC-3's and will quarter overnight at Jefferson City, bussing to Columbia Saturday morning.

The Huskers are scheduled to return to Lincoln's Municipal Airport at 9 p.m. Saturday.

The Scarlet and Cream traveling squad, as announced Thursday, consists of:

LE—Larry Tomlinson, Freeman White, John Kolnzan.
LT—Larry Kramer, Bob Jones, Dennis Carlson.
LG—John Kirby, John Dervin, Mike Kennedy.
C—Ron Michka, Walter Barnes, Lyle Stiller.
RG—Bob Brown, Duncan Drum, Bernie McGinn.
RT—Lloyd Voss, Ron Griesse, Jim Brown.
RE—Tony Jeter, Chuck Doepke, Dick Callahan.
QB—Dennis Claridge, Fred Duda, Doug Tucker.
LH—Willie Ross, Maynard Smidt, Dave Theisen, Bill Johnson.
RH—Kent McCloughan, Ted Vactor, Willie Paschall, Bob Hohn.
FB—Rudy Johnson, Bruce Smith, Gene Young, Joe McNulty.

Nearly 4,000 Nebraska fans are expected to be among the 50,000 football enthusiasts who will watch the Huskers and Tigers battle Saturday.

Although not officially designated as such, the Missouri trip is considered the migration journey on the Husker campus.

Tri-State's Top Fullbacks To Meet In Title Contest

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

The Tri-State Conference's two top fullbacks will be in the spotlight Saturday afternoon when Concordia and Midland square off at Seward for the conference football title.

Larry Stednitz, a 205-pound Falls City senior, holds the single game and season rushing records for Midland and was all-conference at his position last year.

Paul Grauer, a 195-pound product of Raleigh, N.C., has been the sparkplug of Concordia's ground-oriented offense and the six-foot junior figures to give Stednitz a strong battle for all-star honors this season.

Neither constitutes a one-man squad, however.

Midland also boasts a strong passing attack under the command of quarterback Lonnie Allen. Not handicapped by his 5-6, 145-pound stature, Allen had one of his finest days last Saturday when he passed for three touchdowns and ran for two more in the Warriors' 53-34 race past Wayne.

In addition to Grauer, defending champ Concordia has a potent running threat in halfback Bob Voelker, who picked up 156 yards against Dana, and a sparingly-used pass attack directed by quarterback Tom Mayes. Mayes has opened up on occasion—as evidenced by 117 aerial yards in the Bulldog-Sioux Falls contest—and should keep the Midland defenders honest.

A Concordia victory would give the Bulldogs a 6-0 championship mark and allow Westmar a share of second place, if the Iowans dispatch Sioux Falls as expected. A Midland triumph gives the Warriors the crown with a 5-0-1 record.

A high-scoring affair may be on tap for the two clubs who stand 4-4 in their grid series to date. Midland has averaged 25.9 points per contest, Concordia 25.3.

Nebraska College Conference activity also comes to a close this weekend, with three teams struggling for second place honors.

Peru will have last year's 41-0 humbling in mind when it hosts Wayne. Runnerup hopes for either school are contingent upon a Chadron upset of Hastings.

Omaha will attempt to retain control of the Central Intercollegiate Conference race when it hosts Washburn. The Indians may have a rougher go than co-leader Pittsburg, a visitor to last-place Emporia.

The weekend slate:

WESLEYAN at Dana
Doane at Graceland (Iowa)
Hastings at Chadron
Huron (S.D.) at Kearney
Wayne at Peru
Midland at Concordia
Washburn at Omaha
Trinidad (Colo.) at Scottsbluff JC

Revenge Factor Involved

The name of the game is the same, but a few things will be different than a year ago when Nebraska and Missouri meet Saturday. And Nebraskans are hoping one of the changes will be in the score.

A year ago, Missouri whipped the Huskers, 16-7, in the Scarlet and Cream's Homecoming at Lincoln before a national television audience.

This year, it's Missouri's Homecoming at Columbia, Mo., and although there is no national TV, the game carries all the importance that went with last year's contest.

Both the Tigers and Huskers are seeking to unseat Oklahoma as Big Eight champion and only the Saturday winner at Columbia will remain in the running with the Sooners.

The Huskers should have one big factor on their side. That is the revenge motive and the desire to atone for last year's loss. Looking for the Huskers to give their best effort of the year, call it: NEBRASKA 13, Missouri 7

Crows Present Problem In Davis Cup Warmup

Bombay, India (AP) — Crows, hundreds of them, developed into a potential hazard Thursday for the Davis Cup tennis interzone finals between the United States and India.

"What do you do when they're flapping around when you're looking up for a lob?" asked Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., with exasperation.

Indian officials did not hear his rhetorical question. They were too busy making final preparations for the matches that will determine the challenger that meets Australia, the Davis Cup holder at Brisbane, Dec. 26-28.

The draw will be held Friday. Two singles in the best-of-five are scheduled for Saturday, the doubles for Sunday and the remaining singles on Monday. Saturday's matches will start at 2 a.m., CST.

Vital Match

Ralston's question came after a vital practice match with teammate Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla. Ralston missed the lob but went on to win 6-2, 8-10, 9-7 after Froehling double faulted at match point.

At one point during the match Froehling shouted at spectators to quit moving around and distracting him.

"This match is to see who plays in the Davis Cup," he said.

The nonplaying captain of the U.S. team, Robert J. Kelleher of Los Angeles, said later that the match "had a bearing on it." But he declined to indicate which player will be named.

McKinley Assured

Chuck McKinley, the Wimbledon champion from St. Ann, Mo., is assured of one singles berth. He and Ralston, the American 'doubles titleholders, are also certain to take the doubles assignment.

Last time Ralston met the star of the Indian team, Ramanathan Krishnan, he lost 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 12-10. The last time Froehling met Krishnan, the lanky American won 6-2, 14-12. Both matches were played last spring in England.

Krishnan's singles mate also is unselected. Both Jaidip Mukerjea and Premjit Lall are in good shape but they are minor leaguers compared with the top American players.

Doubles Team

Mukerjea and Lall have been playing together as India's doubles team recently, but Krishnan might partner Lall as he did against the United States two years ago in New Delhi. They were beaten.

Players of both teams said the courts they will use were getting harder and a little faster with constant practice on them. Indian sports writers have noted that the slow courts were built to suit Krishnan's ponderous style.

Froehling commented, however, that the courts were not as slow as the India-made tennis balls they were using.

"They're heavier than ours at home but the courts are about like a lot of American clay courts."

3 Groups Contending For Eagles

Philadelphia (AP)—Frank McNamee, president of the Philadelphia Eagles, said Thursday he would vote to sell the club to either of two groups seeking the National Football League franchise if they receive league approval.

McNamee made known his feeling after being informed that a third group, headed by a Washington construction firm owner, was offering $5 million for the club.

George Storer, Miami, Fla., owner of a chain of radio stations, including one in Philadelphia, reportedly has offered in excess of $4,550,000, the asking price for the team. Jack Wolgin, head of Atlas Credit Corp., heading another syndicate, has bid $4,750,000.

McNamee said the Storer group, yet to be acted upon by the Eagles' stockholders, is being discussed with Commissioner Pete Rozelle to determine its acceptability to the league. If Rozelle finds it acceptable, the club stockholders will have an opportunity to vote their pleasure.

Wolgin, the Eagles' president says, has been in to see Rozelle. The commissioner told Wolgin to present the names of the people involved in the offer, and how much stock each would own McNamee said.

Ward's first TD pass covered 44 yards with Charles Gordon on the receiving end and his second covered 30 yards with Bill Glenn receiving.

Missouri Tackle Will Miss Game

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Coach Dan Devine said Thursday Missouri has lost tackle Ron Snyder for its game with Nebraska here Saturday. Snyder sprained a knee in practice Wednesday.

Devine moved George Comfort, a sophomore, up in Snyder's place.

NAIA Poll Ranks Kearney State 6th

Kansas City (AP — Kearney, Neb., State was ranked sixth this week in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football poll.

Northern Illinois was rated first, College of Emporia (Kan.), second; Prairie View A. & M., third; Northern State of South Dakota, fourth.

All top five teams are unbeaten.

Hiskey's Double Eagle Ties Rookie For Lead

San Jose, Calif. (AP)—Rookie Babe Hiskey's sensational double eagle tied him with aging Dutch Harrison for the first round lead at the $25,000 Almaden Open Golf Tournament Thursday as each fired six-under-par 66.

Hiskey, 24, former University of Houston star from Pocatello, Idaho, has earned only $375 on the pro tour and it took a shot estimated by golf statisticians at 1.5 million to one for him to gain the tie with the Arkansas Traveler more than twice his age.

The youngster hit a 195-yard shot with his No. 2 iron into the cup on the 545-yard 13th hole at Almaden Golf and Country Club for only the second double eagle on the pro tour this year.

Harrison, 52, hit 16 greens, took no bogeys and birdied all four of the par 5 holes in his 34-32 round. The veteran who recently moved from San Francisco to St. Louis, said, "I'm playing better because I'm playing more."

Hiskey is playing only his 12th tournament since joining the pro tour last April. He was twice Utah Amateur champion, three times Idaho Amateur king and won the Oklahoma State Open in 1962.

Defensive-Minded Northeast Closes In On Perfect Year

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast is just one step away from its second unbeaten football season in three years, but there's almost no resemblance between the 1961 state championship squad and this year's edition of the Rockets.

"It's really hard to compare the two teams," says coach Art Bauer. "They're almost completely different."

The 1961 club, with Dave Lebsack at the controls, made its mark as a high-scoring offensive team. The Rockets piled up 294 points, an average of over 30 per game, in posting a 9-0 record.

Now the emphasis is on defense.

"These boys are just more defensive minded," Bauer explains. "We don't have the passing we did in 1961 and we have to stress defense."

If the Rockets score two touchdowns against Bellevue they will have pushed their season scoring total to just about half of that compiled by the 1961 team.

But Northeast has shut out three of its last four foes and has given up only six touchdowns in eight games this year as it has scrambled to eight straight wins.

"So far we have kept our defensive errors to a minimum and haven't made any real costly mistakes," Bauer notes.

Bauer and the Rockets regard the Bellevue battle Friday night as their toughest test of the season. Like nearly all other Class A teams the Chieftains have had hot and cold nights during the season.

The fifth-ranked Bellevue club does pose a threat to the Northeast defense, however. Only four Class A teams —Creighton Prep, Boys Town, Omaha Tech and Columbus —have scored more points than the Chieftains this season.

This week's football card is the last full slate of the year with the majority of the state's teams closing their seasons.

A 57-9 effort on last week's selections brought the season mark to .774 for this writer.

This week's top games:

Lincoln Northeast at Bellevue—Second-ranked Rockets have always found some way to come out a winner. They'll do it again.

Pius X v. Southeast at Seacrest Field—Thunderbolts have a habit of winning the ones they shouldn't, but they won't get the job done this time. Take Southeast.

Lincoln High v. Omaha South at Municipal Stadium — Underclassmen are coming of age, the Links finish on a successful note.

Omaha Tech v. Creighton Prep (Sat.) — Junior Jays had some close calls earlier, but they're really rolling now.

Other games with selections in boldface type.

FOYT EXONERATED

...Cleared Of Slugging Charge

Indianapolis (AP)— The U.S. Auto Club cleared big car racing champion A. J. Foyt Thursday of charges that he slugged another driver.

The 19-member USAC board deliberated only 30 minutes before announcing its unanimous decision after a hearing requested by the Houston driver. Foyt was accused of belting Johnny White of Warren, Mich., after an Oct. 5 race at Williams Grove, Pa., Speedway.

The fiery Foyt, who recently finished a year's USAC probation for allegedly threatening a Milwaukee promoter, admitted only that he and White had discussed what Foyt said was White's failure to obey the move-over flag on several occasions.

White did not appear at the hearing, which was conducted by George Ober, USAC vice president.

The directors also exonerated Foyt of charges that he made obscene gestures to the crowd after Foyt explained, "All I did was bow."

USAC suspended Foyt two days after the incident for "conduct detrimental to racing." That suspension was lifted two days later.

No Witness

There was no eyewitness testimony about the alleged slugging, although Joe Pittman, a mechanic for White, said Foyt "called me a bad name and pushed me to the ground."

Foyt said he did push Pittman, but only after Pittman had pushed him.

Harry McQuinn of Indianapolis, chief USAC championship race steward, testified that Foyt has "conducted himself like a gentleman, has adhered to all the rules and regulations and has been an excellent example of USAC in the past year."

By demanding the hearing Foyt risked a fine up to $1,000 and a year's suspension. Instead, he received a refund of the $100 hearing bond he had been required to post.

Hohn's Status Remains Unsure

... BEATRICE BACK NAMED TO TRAVEL SQUAD

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Bob Hohn, Husker right halfback, remained in the Nebraska Student Health Center Thursday night, but a hopeful Bob Devaney included the Beatrice native on the NU traveling squad that will leave at noon today for Missouri.

Hohn was admitted to the student hospital Wednesday night in an effort to find a cure for persistent headaches which have been bothering the Husker back.

"The trainers say there is a chance he can go and we are hoping he will be okay," the NU head coach said. "We are including him in our travel plans."

However, Devaney noted that if Hohn is still bothered by the headaches this morning, then his place on the 36-man traveling squad will be taken by someone else.

Hohn has been one of the Huskers best backs both offensively and defensively and was called "the best all-around football player we have," by Devaney earlier in the week.

If Hohn is unable to play, the main duties at right halfback will fall on Kent McCloughan. McCloughan and Hohn have been battling closely for the top right halfback spot all season.

The 36-man NU traveling squad will leave Lincoln shortly after noon today via three DC-3's and will quarter overnight at Jefferson City, bussing to Columbia Saturday morning.

The Huskers are scheduled to return to Lincoln's Municipal Airport at 9 p.m. Saturday.

LE—Larry Tomlinson, Freeman White, John Koinzan.
LT—Larry Kramer, Bob Jones, Dennis Carlson.
LG—John Kirby, John Dervin, Mike Kennedy.
C—Ron Michka, Walter Barnes, Lyle Sittler.
RG—Bob Brown, Duncan Drum, Bernie McGinn.
RT—Lloyd Voss, Ron Griesse, Jim Brown.
RE—Tony Jeter, Chuck Doepke, Dick Callahan.
QB—Dennis Claridge, Fred Duda, Doug Tucker.
LH—Willie Ross, Maynard Smidt, Dave Theisen, Bill Johnson.
RH—Kent McCloughan, Ted Vactor, Willie Paschall, Bob Hohn.
FB—Rudy Johnson, Bruce Smith, Gene Young, Joe McNulty.

NU Migration

Nearly 4,000 Nebraska fans are expected to be among the 50,000 football enthusiasts who will watch the Huskers and Tigers battle Saturday.

Although not officially designated as such, the Missouri trip is considered the migration journey on the Husker campus.

Tri-State's Top Fullbacks To Meet In Title Contest

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

The Tri-State Conference's two top fullbacks will be in the spotlight Saturday afternoon when Concordia and Midland square off at Seward for the conference football title.

Larry Stednitz, a 205-pound Falls City senior, holds the single game and season rushing records for Midland and was all-conference at his position last year.

Paul Grauer, a 195-pound product of Raleigh, N.C., has been the sparkplug of Concordia's ground-oriented offense and the six-foot junior figures to give Stednitz a strong battle for all-star honors this season.

Neither constitutes a one-man squad, however.

Midland also boasts a strong passing attack under the command of quarterback Lonnie Allen. Not handicapped by his 5-6, 145-pound stature. Allen had one of his finest days last Saturday when he passed for three touchdowns and ran for two more in the Warriors' 53-34 race past Wayne.

In addition to Grauer, defending champ Concordia has a potent running threat in halfback Bob Voelker, who picked up 156 yards against Dana, and a sparingly-used pass attack directed by quarterback Tom Mayes. Mayes has opened up on occasion—as evidenced by 117 aerial yards in the Bulldog-Sioux Falls contest—and should keep the Midland defenders honest.

A Concordia victory would give the Bulldogs a 6-0 championship mark and allow Westmar a share of second place, if the Iowans dispatch Sioux Falls as expected. A Midland triumph gives the Warriors the crown with a 5-0-1 record.

A high-scoring affair may be on tap for the two clubs who stand 4-4 in their grid series to date. Midland has averaged 25.9 points per contest, Concordia 25.3.

Nebraska College Conference activity also comes to a close this weekend, with three teams struggling for second place honors.

Peru will have last year's 41-0 humbling in mind when it hosts Wayne. Runnerup hopes for either school are contingent upon a Chadron upset of Hastings.

Omaha will attempt to retain control of the Central Intercollegiate Conference race when it hosts Washburn. The Indians may have a rougher go than co-leader Pittsburg, a visitor to last-place Emporia.

The weekend slate:

WESLEYAN at Dana
Doane at Graceland (Iowa)
Hastings at Chadron
Huron (S.D.) at Kearney
Wayne at Peru
Midland at Concordia
Washburn at Omaha

Revenge Factor Involved

The name of the game is the same, but a few things will be different than a year ago when Nebraska and Missouri meet Saturday. And Nebraskans are hoping one of the changes will be in the score.

A year ago, Missouri whipped the Huskers, 16-7, in the Scarlet and Cream's Homecoming at Lincoln before a national television audience.

This year, it's Missouri's Homecoming at Columbia, Mo., and although there is no national TV, the game carries all the importance that went with last year's contest.

Kansas City (AP) — Kearney, Neb., State was ranked sixth this week in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football poll.

Hiskey's Double Eagle Ties Rookie For Lead

San Jose, Calif. (AP)—Rookie Babe Hiskey's sensational double eagle tied him with aging Dutch Harrison for the first round lead at the $25,000 Almaden Open Golf Tournament Thursday as each fired six-under-par 66.

Hiskey, 24, former University of Houston star from Pocatello, Idaho, has earned only $375 on the pro tour and it took a shot estimated by golf statisticians at 1.5 million to one for him to gain the tie with the Arkansas Traveler more than twice his age.

The youngster hit a 195-yard shot with his No. 2 iron into the cup on the 545-yard 13th hole at Almaden Golf and Country Club for only the second double eagle on the pro tour this year.

Harrison, 52, hit 16 greens, took no bogeys and birdied all four of the par 5 holes in his 34-32 round. The veteran who recently moved from San Francisco to St. Louis, said, "I'm playing better because I'm playing more."

Hiskey is playing only his 12th tournament since joining the pro tour last April. He was twice Utah Amateur champion, three times Idaho Amateur king and won the Oklahoma State Open in 1962.

Defensive-Minded Northeast Closes In On Perfect Year

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast is just one step away from its second unbeaten football season in three years, but there's almost no resemblance between the 1961 state championship squad and this year's edition of the Rockets.

"It's really hard to compare the two teams," says coach Art Bauer. "They're almost completely different."

The 1961 club, with Dave Lebsack at the controls, made its mark as a high-scoring offensive team. The Rockets piled up 294 points, an average of over 30 per game, in posting a 9-0 record.

Now the emphasis is on defense.

"These boys are just more defensive minded," Bauer explains. "We don't have the passing we did in 1961 and we have to stress defense."

If the Rockets score two touchdowns against Bellevue they will have pushed their season scoring total to just about half of that compiled by the 1961 team.

But Northeast has shut out three of its last four foes and has given up only six touchdowns in eight games this year as it has scrambled to eight straight wins.

"So far we have kept our defensive errors to a minimum and haven't made any real costly mistakes," Bauer notes.

Bauer and the Rockets regard the Bellevue battle Friday night as their toughest test of the season. Like nearly all other Class A teams the Chieftains have had hot and cold nights during the season.

The fifth-ranked Bellevue club does pose a threat to the Northeast defense, however. Only four Class A teams —Creighton Prep, Boys Town, Omaha Tech and Columbus —have scored more points than the Chieftains this season.

This week's football card is the last full slate of the year with the majority of the state's teams closing their seasons.

A 57-9 effort on last week's selections brought the season mark to .774 for this writer.

This week's top games:

Lincoln Northeast at Bellevue—Second-ranked Rockets have always found some way to come out a winner. They'll do it again.

Pius X v. Southeast at Seacrest Field—Thunderbolts have a habit of winning the ones they shouldn't, but they won't get the job done this time. Take Southeast.

Lincoln High v. Omaha South at Municipal Stadium — Underclassmen are coming of age, the Links finish on a successful note.

. . . NBA PLAYERS WARNED

San Francisco (AP)—President J. Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association warned Thursday that "ignorance will be no excuse" if any players in the league associate with gamblers.

Emulating commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League, Kennedy is making a tour of the teams to warn players personally against any association with persons having gambling interests or criminal records.

His talk to the San Francisco Warriors concluded his visits to the nine teams.

At a news conference, Kennedy said that information is exchanged on an informal basis between himself, Rozelle and commissioner Ford Frick of baseball in the continuing effort to keep professional sports clean.

He added that at a Nov. 13 meeting, the NBA will discuss additional internal security and safeguards within the organization itself.

This could include an off limit list of places in the various league cities which players are not to visit.

Kennedy pointed out that all NBA player contracts have a clause permitting the league to ban any player whose acts are detrimental to the sport.

"We are particularly concerned with any association with people having gambling interests or criminal records," he said. "I want to make it clear to each player that if there is any variance with this regulation, they can expect no mercy from me and ignorance will not be accepted as an excuse."

Jets Add Maynard To Injured Deferred List

New York (AP) — Don Maynard, flanker back who caught three touchdown passes against Denver Saturday night, was put on the injured deferred list by the New York Jets of the American Football League Thursday. He is subject to claim by any other team in the league during the next 24 hours.

Maynard, onetime New York Giant player, suffered a pulled muscle in his right thigh late in the fourth quarter against Denver. The injury was first believed to be minor. It has healed but little during the past week.

Grid Marks Fall Before 'The Horse'

Wayne — Teammates and coaches call him The Horse.

And that's a good description for the working abilities of Wayne State's No. 1 fullback, Burt Matthies, who has rated mention on national charts for rushing and scoring all season.

The 22-year-old sophomore from Stanton already is far beyond the full-season yardage of any Wayne State balltoter in recent years since records were complete. He has carried 124 times for 721 yards in seven games. And he has yet to be thrown for loss this season.

"I would call him the wheelhorse of our offense," says coach John Jermier, "and the opponents have figured it the same way. They have geared up to stop him."

Occasionally they do stop Matthies for no gain. But he has averaged a healthy 5.8 yards, and Jermier notes that his burly 225-pounder seldom is tackled by one defender, usually swarmed by several.

"He knows what to do near the goal-line," the coach says. Near means anything within about 20 yards; several of his nine touchdowns started 15 to 20 yards out.

Since the injury of Wayne's extra point kicker, Matthies has added conversions to his chores, scoring on three of four plunges.

During a four-year tour in the Air Force, Matthies earned the title of Most Valuable Player in the Hawaii Armed Forces League.

Globetrotters May Lose Charity Tilt To London Team

London (AP)— A spokesman for the Harlem Globetrotters said Thursday the basketball team might do a bit of cheating next Monday and lose for the first time in 300 games.

They're scheduled to play the Lord's Taverners in a charity event. Prince Philip is a sub for the Taverners. He is expected to put on a basketball suit and hand out drinks to the players.

Bill Margolis, an official of the Globetrotters, said:

"I understand the Taverners say they will win, even if it means cheating. Okay, we'll cooperate."

The Taverners are a sports and social club attached to Lord's Cricket Ground. Each year they turn out a team for charity and take on a famous squad at some sport or other, and the tradition is that the Taverners always win. Radio and television personalities make up the team.

The game is scheduled for the intermission at a ball in a downtown London hotel. Proceeds will go to the British National Playing Fields association.

The Globetrotters are coming over from New York at their own expense for the game.

Grouse Season Best Since '58

The 1963 grouse season will go down as one of Nebraska's best since 1958, M. O. Steen, Game Commission director, said.

Grouse success this season was up considerably over past years and is attributed to better reproduction and an increase in birds this year than for the last few seasons.

Shooting seasons on grouse closed in both the Sand Hills and Southwest area on October 31.

Snider's Crystal Ball Likes Huskers By Six

. . . TOP TRIO SHOULD WIN

By STEVE SNIDER

New York (UPI) — Beware of November, the "Month of Upsets" in college football.

There may be plenty of upsets this weekend as the collegians head into fateful November for the critical stages of the 1963 season but advance clues are mighty scarce.

That means riding with form in this forecast — Texas over Southern Methodist, Illinois over Purdue and Mississippi over Louisiana State—in games involving the 1,2,3, teams in the nation.

Around the map by sections:

EAST

Syracuse 20, Pittsburgh 14 —Key game in fight for Eastern honors.

Princeton 21, Brown 13 — Unbeaten Tigers are tough in this league.

Boston College 14, Vanderbilt — Vandy could make it close.

Also: Boston U. over Rutgers, Harvard over Pennsylvania, Holy Cross over Villanova, Dartmouth over Yale, Delaware over Buffalo, Colgate over Lehigh, Massachusetts over Vermont, Columbia over Cornell.

MIDWEST

Illinois 14, Purdue 7 — Keeping a check on Purdue's DiGravio.

Army 24, Air Force 17 — Cadets have the punch on the ground.

Navy 14, Notre Dame 10 — Staubach remains Navy's chief hope.

Nebraska 13, Missouri 7 — A real toughie for Nebraska's Claridge.

Wisconsin 10, Michigan State 7 —Low score in prospect; watch points.

Also: Ohio State over Iowa, Northwestern over Michigan, Minnesota over Indiana, Oklahoma over Colorado, Iowa State over Oklahoma State, Kansas over Kansas State, Bowling Green over Miami, O., Toledo over Kent State, Ohio U. over Xavier, Cincinnati over Dayton.

SOUTH

Mississippi 14, Louisiana State 7 — LSU ground forces fall short.

Auburn 28, Florida 20 — Looks like a wild one.

Alabama 21, Mississippi State 10—Tide blends passes and runs.

Georgia Tech 17, Duke 10 —Lothridge the key, as usual.

Penn State 23, Maryland 14 —Terps need big effort to make it close.

Also: Georgia over North Carolina, Miami over Kentucky, Clemson over Wake Forest, North Carolina State over Virginia, Tulane over South Carolina, Virginia Tech over Richmond, Florida State over Furman, West Virginia over George Washington, Memphis State over Louisville, VMI over William and Mary.

SOUTHWEST

Texas 23, Southern Methodist 14 —Could be more, could be less.

Baylor 21, Texas Christian 14 — On Don Trull's passes.

Arkansas 28, Texas A. and M. 13 — Porkers find their punch.

Rice 14, Texas Tech 7 — Letdown could hurt Owls after Texas near-miss.

Also: North Texas State over Abilene Christian, Wyoming over Arizona, Utah over Arizona State, Houston over Detroit, Wichita over New Mexico State, West Texas State over Trinity.

FAR WEST

Southern California 28, Washington 20 — Coffey is back to spark Huskies.

U.C.L.A. 14, California 10 —Consolation.

Stanford 21, Oregon State 14 — A guess the Indians will ride momentum.

Also: Idaho over Washington State.

Globetrotters May Lose Charity Tilt To London Team

London (AP)— A spokesman for the Harlem Globetrotters said Thursday the basketball team might do a bit of cheating next Monday and lose for the first time in 300 games.

They're scheduled to play the Lord's Taverners in a charity event. Prince Philip is a sub for the Taverners. He is expected to put on a basketball suit and hand out drinks to the players.

Bill Margolis, an official of the Globetrotters, said:

"I understand the Taverners say they will win, even if it means cheating. Okay, we'll cooperate."

The Taverners are a sports and social club attached to Lord's Cricket Ground. Each year they turn out a team for charity and take on a famous squad at some sport or other, and the tradition is that the Taverners always win. Radio and television personalities make up the team.

The game is scheduled for the intermission at a ball in a downtown London hotel. Proceeds will go to the British National Playing Fields association.

The Globetrotters are coming over from New York at their own expense for the game.

Grouse Season Best Since '58

The 1963 grouse season will go down as one of Nebraska's best since 1958, M. O. Steen, Game Commission director, said.

Grouse success this season was up considerably over past years and is attributed to better reproduction and an increase in birds this year than for the last few seasons.

Shooting seasons on grouse closed in both the Sand Hills and Southwest area on October 31.

Memphis State Rejuvenation Program Reaches Maturity

. . . CLUB MOVES TOWARD UNBEATEN YEAR

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) —One voice rose clearly through the bedlam. It was praying. Soon the dressing room became very quiet, and the sweaty, weary football players joined in the Lord's Prayer.

Memphis State had just defeated Mississippi State 17-10 and cleared what was probably the last major hurdle on the way to its first unbeaten season in 25 years.

Tremendous Battle

It was a tremendous battle last Saturday night between undefeated teams. And it wasn't decided until quarterback Russell Vollmer came back from a hospital and directed Memphis State to a final touchdown, a feat that won him recognition as Associated Press Back of the Week.

Typical of the team spirit that worked the trick for the Tigers was Vollmer's courage after being knocked flat by a brutal tackle in the first quarter.

He was carried from the stadium in an ambulance, but returned and led the Tigers to victory after a check at a hospital showed no broken bones.

Played Like Champions

"I don't think I've ever been as proud of any football team as I am of this one," said coach Billy (Spook) Murphy. "They played like champions . . . That's the way the game is supposed to be played."

It was the way the Tigers had played earlier in the season when they stunned mighty Mississippi, ranked second in the nation at the time, with a scoreless tie.

Memphis State now has four games left with rivals they are favored to handle—Louisville, South Carolina, Chattanooga and Houston.

The road up wasn't easy, says Murphy, who took on the job of building a big time football team at Memphis State in 1958 and came through ahead of schedule.

Murphy was hired after Memphis citizens decided they wanted good football and were ready to go out and get it. A major part of the money that went into the program came from donations by local businessmen.

Scoured The Country

Memphis State recruiters searched the country for prospects, going up North to counter the opposition met in the South by area teams with established prestige.

"We faced every problem in the books," says Murphy "Nobody had ever heard of Memphis State, but we kept plugging. Now they all know who we are and it gets easier each year."

The Tigers have picked up a big following along the way and now have some of the most enthusiastic fans of any team in the country.

For both the Mississippi and Mississippi State games this year Crump Stadium was packed beyond its 32,000 capacity — the only times the stadium has been sold out prior to the day of the game.

Symbolic of the Memphis State success story is a 55,000-seat stadium now under construction at the fairgrounds, a few yards from the new 14,000-seat coliseum where the basketball Tigers will play.

Denver Paper Reports Clay-Liston Pact Near

Denver (AP)— The Denver Post said Thursday it learned that heavyweight champion Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay will sign a contract in Denver next week for a title fight.

Liston makes his home in Denver.

He denied the report when a reporter reached him at his home Wednesday, but said "serious negotiations" still were under way for the bout.

Liston said he talked to his adviser, Jack Nilon, "The other day and he didn't say anything about a signing."

"As far as I know, the thing is still baking, but it isn't done yet," Liston said.

The Post said the fight may be held some time in February with bids expected from Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, Atlantic City, Minneapolis and Las Vegas, Nev.

Milt Willner, Denver restaurant operator and fight promoter, who has been Liston's press representative the last few weeks, was reported on his way to Las Vegas Thursday.

In Louisville, Bill Faversham, spokesman for Clay's backers, said negotiations "are under way but nothing has been settled yet. I know of no contract signing scheduled next week in Denver."

Power Boats Allowed On Lake No. 4

Salt Creek Reservoir No. 4, west of Sprague, is open to recreational power boating until further public notice, the Game Commission announces.

Reservoir No. 8, east of Hickman, is closed to all power boating, M. O. Steen, Commission director, said. Both areas are open to fishing. The Commission issued the statement to clarify some apparent confusion about the two sites.

The Commission-managed lands at each reservoir are open to upland game hunting, except the developed boat launching and public use areas. Both reservoirs, including land and water surfaces, are closed to waterfowl hunting.

Non-powered craft, such as sailboats, rowboats, canoes, and the like, may be operated on either site, except that access, parking, launching, and public use facilities are under construction at No. 8. Interior access roads on No. 8 may be closed from time to time without prior notice until the area is announced as open to the public by the Commission. This will be sometime in 1964.

The Salt Creek Project reservoirs are constructed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for flood control. They are developed and operated for outdoor recreation and wildlife management by the Game Commission.

No Early Favorite For Heisman Trophy Honors

By STEVE SNIDER

New York (UPI) — Candidates for the Heisman Trophy and other prized college football awards are lining up like Sunday drivers looking for a traffic jam.

They're marching in disorderly ranks instead of single file with only four weeks to go before the ballot boxes are sealed on what figures to be the tightest race in history for national honors.

At this stage each year, there's usually a clear-cut favorite. That's not so in 1963 —the year of the quarterback.

Jolly Roger Staubach of Navy possibly has a slight edge because his national publicity as well as his game performances have been uniformly good.

But his rivals are a spectacular group including Don Trull of Baylor, Bill Lothridge of Georgia Tech, Jimmy Sidle of Auburn, Gale Sayers of Kansas, George Mira of Miami and where do you stop?

So far this season, not a single player has been selected more than once in the United Press International Backfield-Of-The-Week for a superior one-game performance.

Heisman winners like Terry Baker of Oregon State (last year) and the late Ernie Davis of Syracuse (1961) made it three or four times during a season.

The weekly statistics posted by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau provide little clue.

Staubach currently is the nation's total offense leader with 1,306 yards but Trull has 1,197 in one less game.

Larry Rakestraw of Georgia, Bob Berry of Oregon, Tom Myers of Northwestern and Terry Isaacson of the Air Force Academy all rank high in total offense.

Trull is the leading passer on a yardage basis but Staubach clearly is the leader on percentage of completions.

Sayers is the leading ballcarrier but has only a slight margin over Fred Beier of Detroit and Tom Vaughn of Iowa State.

There's no rule that says an underclassman can't win—Doak Walker and Doc Blanchard were juniors in their Heisman years—But if your pet candidate is a center, guard or tackle—forget it.

The only linemen ever to win the Heisman award were ends, Leon Hart of Notre Dame and Yale's Larry Kelly.

Dean Hits Sex Parties

. . . HARVARD MEN POOH-POOH CLAIM

Cambridge, Mass. (UPI)—Sex parties behind the ivy walls of Harvard University, the oldest and richest college in the nation, were disclosed Thursday by a Harvard dean.

But the men of Harvard pooh-poohed College Dean John U. Monro's claim that coed's visits to Harvard dorms have "come to be a license to use the college rooms for wild parties and sexual intercourse."

Monro distributed to Harvard tutors a Harvard psychiatrist's report that premarital relations between coeds and college men is on the increase throughout the nation.

Study

The report by Dr. Graham B. Blaine Jr. of Harvard's health services was based in part on a study of students at Harvard and Radcliffe, a women's college which shares classrooms with Harvard.

Harvard, founded in 1636 with a present endowment of $853 million, includes among its illustrious alumni John Hancock, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and President Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Dean Monro's disclosures were made in the Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily newspaper, which subsequently editorialized to the effect that his allegations were exaggerated.

Trouble

Noting that Harvard allows students to entertain women at certain hours daily, Monro said:

"Trouble has arisen because what was once considered a pleasant privilege has come to be a license to use the college rooms for wild parties and sexual intercourse.

He said violation of dormitory rules are bringing the college "closer and closer to outright scandal."

A Harvard student who declined to authorize use of his name said "a few wild parties have been held and some guy might have thrown a gin bottle out a window. But things are not as bad as Dean Monro pictured."

Don't Know

Another student, Richard Cotton of Chicago, class of '65, said, "I personally don't know of anything that could be considered a dorm party."

Harvard President Nathan M. Pusey declined to comment.

Radcliffe President Dr. Mary Bunting said there was "no cause for unusual concern about the activities of Radcliffe girls."

Radcliffe girls are allowed to have men in their rooms for a total of 25 hours per week. From their sophomore year on, they also can remain out all night without asking college permission.

Encouraged

The Blaine report entitled "Sex Mores in Transition" said colleges "unwittingly encourage this trend toward premarital relations through relatively liberal parietal (rules about conduct within a college) relations.

"Colleges put themselves in a unique position by allowing girls in boys' bedrooms. It is not possibly legal anywhere else."

Dr. Blaine said the survey showed that the trend toward premarital relations is going up "and this trend reflects a cultural change in the United States."

Up To 50%

He said surveys in 1938 showed 35% of college women were not virgins and that two surveys in 1953 revealed that 50% were not virgins.

"The trend in sexuality is due partly to the accessibility of bedrooms in college dormitories and many students fall into sexual relations for which they are not ready," Dr. Blaine said.

Radcliffe's Dr. Bunting said she has no plans to impose severer free time restrictions on Radcliffe girls. "I have no indication that there has been any serious trouble," she said.

'Of Course'

She said that "of course" she does not go through the dorms Saturday nights and "I have not been making a special point of talking to the girls about the subject.

"But Radcliffe College should not ask what everybody is doing every minute."

Bank's Vault Sticking Up Like Sore Thumb

Hesston, Kan. (AP)—The Hesston State Bank's vault, with the money in it, sits out in the open air without so much as an armed guard during the night.

During office hours, when the bank needs some cash, an official accompanied by two shotgun toting guards crosses the main street from its offices, and takes out whatever he needs.

This awkward procedure became necessary when the bank's building was torn down. They left the vault sticking up like a sore thumb in the rubble where a new bank building soon will be erected.

"We don't keep any full-time guards," said Bob Ruth, president. "It's well exposed and well lighted all the time. The insurance company approved the arrangement."

Ruth said once in a while someone will notice the guards and their shotguns in this town of 1,000 population.

"They ask us once in a while if we have killed any rabbits but they usually ignore us," he said.

U.S. Letting Its Vessels Get Ancient

Chicago (UPI) — A spokesman for the nation's private shipyards warned Thursday that vessels in the United States naval and merchants fleets are getting so old they have become a threat to the country's security.

The warning came from Edwin M. Hood, president of the Shipbuilders Council of America, in a speech before the National Safety Council and the Propeller Club of Chicago.

Hood said that the United States was permitting its sea power resources to deteriorate at a time when Russia was engaged in an accelerated expansion of its merchant and naval fleets.

Simple

"While Mr. Khrushchev may have withdrawn from the moon race, you can be certain he will not depart from his charted course on the oceans," Hood said. "The reason is simple — an armada of merchant and naval ships is a sounder investment than putting 2 or 3 men on the moon.

"The East-West conflict of ideologies will not be decided in outer space — the lines are drawn and the struggle will take place at sea."

Hood said if the current trend is not reversed "in a few years the hammer and sickle could be the trademark of one of the world's foremost, if not the leading, sea power."

Reds Expand

Hood said that during 1961 and 1962, while the U.S. Merchant fleet decreased by 111 ships totaling more than 500,000 deadweight tons, the Russian fleet expanded by 129 ships of nearly one million tons.

He said as further evidence of the USSR's sea power advances, there were 236 large merchant vessels under construction as of May 1 this year.

This total, Hood said, was five times the number being built in U.S. shipyards. In naval strength, Russia is still second to the United States, but boasts 400 long-range submarines, some of which are nuclear powered.

Hood said that of the 860 ships in our naval fleet, 600 are of World War II vintage and soon will reach the end of their effective careers nearly simultaneously.

He said a recent recommendation of a congressional committee urged that the naval shipbuilding program be stepped up to 70 ships per year for the next decade to remedy the Navy's obsolescence problem.

"But this recommendation has fallen on deaf ears, and the building program for the current year involves only 31 ships," he said.

Blaze Raging In Arkansas

Mena, Ark. (AP) — One thousand firefighters cut off the northeastward advance of a vicious forest fire Thursday after it had burned 20 square miles of timber like a pile of leaves.

The firemen were working Thursday night to control the east and west flanks of the fire in the vast Ouachita National Forest of western Arkansas.

No private property was reported damaged and there were no injuries. But damage to timber alone was expected to run well above $2 million.

The fire was started by sparks from a train north of Mena, a town of 4,388 persons near the Oklahoma border, said Charles Jones, U.S. Forestry Service worker.

It was driven northeastward by a 30 mile an hour wind across a sparsely populated, mountainous area. The advance was sometimes as fast as four miles per hour, the forestry service said.

The long flames whipped through treetops and started new fires a half mile ahead of the main fire line, which was six miles long.

"It looks like being up above a thunderstorm," said Jones from the rich mountain fire tower. "We can see miles and miles of smoke. I've been in the forest service 14 years and I've never seen anything like this."

The smoke was so dense that two B26 bombers fitted with firespraying equipment could not get low enough to be effective. The smoke flonted 50 miles north to Fort Smith.

Ft. Chaffee, a large Army post near Fort Smith, sent more than 330 soldiers to work with 500 Forestry Service employes and more than 200 volunteers.

Fire plows dug fire breaks around the few houses in the mountainous area. Fire plows and tank trucks finally stopped the advance.

MAIN U.N. POLITICAL COMMITTEE CALLS FOR TOTAL TEST BAN

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The main U.N. Political Committee approved Thursday a resolution calling on the 18-nation disarmament commission to resume negotiations "with a sense of urgency" on a total test ban agreement.

By 97-1, with 3 abstentions, the committee adopted a resolution sponsored by 30 nations.

They include the United States, the Soviet Union and 15 others who will meet in Geneva early next year. They will try to agree on a ban on underground tests, which are exempted from the limited test ban pact signed in Moscow.

Albania, an ally of Communist China in the Chinese-Soviet dispute, voted against the resolution. Its delegate again assailed the limited test ban treaty as a fraud and "contrary to the cause of peace and international security."

The abstainers included France, which has boycotted the Geneva talks, and Cuba and the Central African Republic.

The resolution, which will be forwarded to the General Assembly for ratification, made no mention of the basic issue preventing U.S.-Soviet agreement on underground tests—U.S. insistence and Soviet objection to on-site inspection.

It was adopted 20-3, with 78 abstentions.

As approved the resolution makes no direct reference to underground testing. It notes with satisfaction language in the test ban treaty expressing a desire to seek discontinuance of all test explosions through further negotiations.

U.N. To Remain In Yemen

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant announced Thursday night that the U.N. military mission will continue for another two months its efforts to end intervention in Yemen's civil war.

Thant said Wednesday that the U.N. efforts had failed and the 200-man mission would withdraw Nov. 4.

But he said in a new message to the Security Council that Saudi Arabia had agreed to pay half the expenses of the U.N. mission for another two months. The United Arab Republic agreed earlier to help finance the mission for one or two months more.

Thant also said Yemeni representatives appealed for an extension of the mission.

As a result, Thant said, "I have ordered the cancellation of the preparations that were under way for withdrawal of the U.N. mission by Nov. 4."

MAIN U.N. POLITICAL COMMITTEE CALLS FOR TOTAL TEST BAN

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The main U.N. Political Committee approved Thursday a resolution calling on the 18-nation disarmament commission to resume negotiations "with a sense of urgency" on a total test ban agreement.

By 97-1, with 3 abstentions, the committee adopted a resolution sponsored by 30 nations.

They include the United States, the Soviet Union and 15 others who will meet in Geneva early next year. They will try to agree on a ban on underground tests, which are exempted from the limited test ban pact signed in Moscow.

Albania, an ally of Communist China in the Chinese-Soviet dispute, voted against the resolution. Its delegate again assailed the limited test ban treaty as a fraud and "contrary to the cause of peace and international security."

The abstainers included France, which has boycotted the Geneva talks, and Cuba and the Central African Republic.

The resolution, which will be forwarded to the General Assembly for ratification, made no mention of the basic issue preventing U.S.-Soviet agreement on underground tests—U.S. insistence and Soviet objection to on-site inspection.

At the last moment Cyprus and Ghana introduced an amendment asking the Geneva negotiators to pursue their efforts with "a sense of urgency."

It was adopted 20-3, with 78 abstentions.

As approved the resolution makes no direct reference to underground testing. It notes with satisfaction language in the test ban treaty expressing a desire to seek discontinuance of all test explosions through further negotiations.

U.N. To Remain In Yemen

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General U Thant announced Thursday night that the U.N. military mission will continue for another two months its efforts to end intervention in Yemen's civil war.

Thant said Wednesday that the U.N. efforts had failed and the 200-man mission would withdraw Nov. 4.

But he said in a new message to the Security Council that Saudi Arabia had agreed to pay half the expenses of the U.N. mission for another two months. The United Arab Republic agreed earlier to help finance the mission for one or two months more.

Thant also said Yemeni representatives appealed for an extension of the mission.

As a result, Thant said, "I have ordered the cancellation of the preparations that were under way for withdrawal of the U.N. mission by Nov. 4."

Stock Market Closes Mixed

New York (AP) — The stock market weathered some additional selling Thursday and recovered enough to show a mixed pattern at the close. Trading was fairly active.

Slight gains were posted by the popular market indicators and a few more stocks advanced than declined. Certain issues showed considerable strength as they recouped ground lost recently. Xerox spurted 12 points to 364½, making a new high.

The Dow Jones industrial average rebounded from a loss of 2.28 in the first half hour and ended the day with a trifling net gain of .04 at 755.23.

After the market's initial decline, selling seemed to dry up and, as one broker put it, "The line of least resistance was upward."

The market tone was further enhanced by an advance of rail stocks which were helped by a number of favorable earnings reports. Several of the carriers gained around a point or better.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks made a moderate gain of .8 at 281.5 with industrials up .1, rails up 1.3 and utilities up .5.

Of 1,306 issues traded, 517 rose and 497 fell. New highs and new lows for the year were even at 25 each.

Volume was 5.05-million shares compared with 5.16 million Wednesday.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks advanced, four declined and Sperry Rand was unchanged.

Prices moved irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.47-million shares compared with 1.31 million Wednesday.

Stock Market Closes Mixed

New York (AP) — The stock market weathered some additional selling Thursday and recovered enough to show a mixed pattern at the close. Trading was fairly active.

Slight gains were posted by the popular market indicators and a few more stocks advanced than declined. Certain issues showed considerable strength as they recouped ground lost recently. Xerox spurted 12 points to 364½, making a new high.

The Dow Jones industrial average rebounded from a loss of 2.36 in the first half hour and ended the day with a trifling net gain of .04 at 733.23.

After the market's initial decline, selling seemed to dry up and, as one broker put it, "The line of least resistance was upward."

The market tone was further enhanced by an advance of rail stocks which were helped by a number of favorable earnings reports. Several of the carriers gained around a point or better.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks made a moderate gain of .6 at 281.3 with industrials up .1, rails up 1.3 and utilities up .5.

Of 1,306 issues traded, 517 rose and 497 fell. New highs and new lows for the year were even at 25 each.

Volume was 5.05-million shares compared with 5.16 million Wednesday.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks advanced, four declined and Sperry Rand was unchanged.

Prices moved irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.67-million shares compared with 1.31 million Wednesday.

Catholic Unit Calls For Beauty In Religious Art

Vatican City (UPI) — Ecumenical Council fathers Thursday endorsed overwhelmingly a document which condemns decoration of Roman Catholic churches with inferior religious art and inappropriate images and statues.

"Beauty rather than mere costliness" should be the criterion in the selection of religious art, the document stressed.

By a vote of 1,838 to 9, the fathers approved the last chapter of the basic liturgical reform project which deals with sacred art and the architecture and furnishings of churches.

Moderate

It confirms the Catholic practice of placing images of the Virgin Mary and other saints in churches for the veneration of congregations. But it emphasized that these should be "moderate in number" and "doctrinally sound."

The chapter also states that care must be taken in the construction of new churches to make certain the architectural design is suitable for public worship and enhances the participation of the laity in church services.

Following the vote, the fathers sat through hours of speeches on Chapter IV of the theological document "On the Church," dealing with the call to all Christians to lead holy lives. The fathers had voted Wednesday to cut off debate on the document, but 25 bishops took advantage of a rule which permits them to talk after closure has been invoked if they speak on behalf of five or more fathers.

Slow Pace

Many fathers have complained at the slow pace of the proceedings.

Julius Cardinal Doepfner of Germany, presiding officer at the session Thursday, tried to stem the tide by telling the fathers that the council "must move faster."

The council recessed until Tuesday, because in addition to the usual weekend break Friday is All Saints Day and Monday is an Italian holiday celebrating the World War I armistice. The four-day recess is the longest since the council convened on Sept. 29.

Prisoners Set Fires In Protest

Anamosa, Iowa (UPI) — Demonstrating prisoners at the Iowa Men's Reformatory touched off destructive fires in workshops and staged short-lived hunger and sit-down strikes Thursday to give vent to what officials called "an accumulation of petty gripes."

The prison tailor shop was burned out and the print shop severely damaged before city firemen, aided by some prisoners, brought the blazes under control.

Reformatory officials said the shouting, cursing prisoners overturned and damaged equipment in the auto license plate and automotive school buildings.

Lloyd Hoyle, reformatory business manager, termed the violent outbreak a "disturbance." He said it was the first major outcropping of inmate dissatisfaction in 15 years.

The fires broke out about 1 p.m. and were under control about an hour later. Hoyle said all of the 968 inmates, except about 40 who were aiding firemen or engaged in cleanup work, were back in their cells.

All available city, county and state police in the area—armed with riot guns, machine guns, carbines and their usual sidearms—rushed to the walled reformatory and surrounded it.

But there was no attempt to break out of the institution and by 2 p.m. some of the officers returned to their regular duty or homes.

Hoyle said there apparently was no ill feeling among the inmates against members of the reformatory staff. Staff members were not molested as they circulated among the men urging them to ignore hard-core demonstrators and end the disturbances.

Retired Librarian Is Almost Back In Ranks Of The Living

Stourbridge, England (AP)—Fred Bristow, retired librarian, is back in the ranks of the living Thursday, but not entirely.

Fred, a lively 69, looked on as a stone mason chipped his name off the list of dead on the city's memorial to World War I.

"It's taken me 40 years to get that done," he said.

He still is listed among the dead on a memorial window in the parish church.

Fred explained that the mixup started in 1918.

A telegram arrived at his mother's home.

"We regret to inform you," it said, "that F. Bristow died of wounds in action."

"It was my young brother Frank who died," said Fred. "But he'd only been in the Army three months and my mother naturally thought it was me."

Fred recalled that friends fainted in the street when he came home from the war alive. Then it was his turn to be astonished. He went to the unveiling of the war memorial and found his name there along with Frank's

Several times he asked the city council to have it removed.. Always the council ruled that the memorial should not be defaced.

But last month the city fathers relented. So Fred's name was chipped off by Theo Brown, son of the mason who carved the original names.

Catholic Unit Calls For Beauty In Religious Art

Vatican City (UPI) — Ecumenical Council fathers Thursday endorsed overwhelmingly a document which condemns decoration of Roman Catholic churches with inferior religious art and inappropriate images and statues.

"Beauty rather than mere costliness" should be the criterion in the selection of religious art, the document stressed.

By a vote of 1,838 to 9, the fathers approved the last chapter of the basic liturgical reform project which deals with sacred art and the architecture and furnishings of churches.

Moderate

It confirms the Catholic practice of placing images of the Virgin Mary and other saints in churches for the veneration of congregations. But it emphasized that these should be "moderate in number" and "doctrinally sound."

The chapter also states that care must be taken in the construction of new churches to make certain the architectural design is suitable for public worship and enhances the participation of the laity in church services.

Following the vote, the fathers sat through hours of speeches on Chapter IV of the theological document "On the Church," dealing with the call to all Christians to lead holy lives. The fathers had voted Wednesday to cut off debate on the document, but 25 bishops took advantage of a rule which permits them to talk after closure has been invoked if they speak on behalf of five or more fathers.

Slow Pace

Many fathers have complained at the slow pace of the proceedings.

Julius Cardinal Doepfner of Germany, presiding officer at the session Thursday, tried to stem the tide by telling the fathers that the council "must move faster."

The council recessed until Tuesday, because in addition to the usual weekend break Friday is All Saints Day and Monday is an Italian holiday celebrating the World War I armistice. The four-day recess is the longest since the council convened on Sept. 29.

Prisoners Set Fires In Protest

Anamosa, Iowa (UPI) — Demonstrating prisoners at the Iowa Men's Reformatory touched off destructive fires in workshops and staged short-lived hunger and sit-down strikes Thursday to give vent to what officials called "an accumulation of petty gripes."

The prison tailor shop was burned out and the print shop severely damaged before city firemen, aided by some prisoners, brought the blazes under control.

Reformatory officials said the shouting, cursing prisoners overturned and damaged equipment in the auto license plate and automotive school buildings.

Lloyd Hoyle, reformatory business manager, termed the violent outbreak a "disturbance." He said it was the first major outcropping of inmate dissatisfaction in 15 years.

The fires broke out about 1 p.m. and were under control about an hour later. Hoyle said all of the 968 inmates, except about 40 who were aiding firemen or engaged in cleanup work, were back in their cells.

All available city, county and state police in the area—armed with riot guns, machine guns, carbines and their usual sidearms—rushed to the walled reformatory and surrounded it.

But there was no attempt to break out of the institution and by 2 p.m. some of the officers returned to their regular duty or homes.

Hoyle said there apparently was no ill feeling among the inmates against members of the reformatory staff. Staff members were not molested as they circulated among the men urging them to ignore hard-core demonstrators and end the disturbances.

Retired Librarian Is Almost Back In Ranks Of The Living

Stourbridge, England (AP)— Fred Bristow, retired librarian, is back in the ranks of the living Thursday, but not entirely.

Fred, a lively 69, looked on as a stone mason chipped his name off the list of dead on the city's memorial to World War I.

"It's taken me 40 years to get that done," he said.

He still is listed among the dead on a memorial window in the parish church.

Fred explained that the mixup started in 1918.

A telegram arrived at his mother's home.

"We regret to inform you," it said, "that F. Bristow died of wounds in action."

"It was my young brother Fraink who died," said Fred.

"But he'd only been in the Army three months and my mother naturally thought it was me."

Fred recalled that friends fainted in the street when he came home from the war alive. Then it was his turn to be astonished. He went to the unveiling of the war memorial and found his name there along with Frank's

Several times he asked the city council to have it removed.. Always the council ruled that the memorial should not be defaced.

But last month the city fathers relented. So Fred's name was chipped off by Theo Brown, son of the mason who carved the original names.

Niobrara May Be Preserved In Natural State

Washington (AP) — The Niobrara River in Nebraska appears to have a good chance of gaining further consideration for inclusion in a proposed system of wild national rivers.

The Niobrara, it was learned Thursday, is one of a dozen or so rivers which may be studied in detail for possible selection among the free-flowing streams to be preserved in their natural state for recreational purposes.

Sixty-four rivers or river segments were selected last August by a joint study team from the Interior and Agriculture departments for consideration for the system. Preliminary studies have eliminated 50 or more of them, available information indi-

The study team, which sent reconnaissance groups to make personal inspections of the 64 rivers, is reported to have about finished its work. An announcement of the study team's recommendations may be forthcoming in the next week or two.

One of the primary purposes of the detailed investigations would be to design and test methods for a systematic evaluation of the worth of the rivers for recreation and related uses.

The wild rivers study grew out of recommendations by the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission and the Senate Committee on National Water Resources.

The Senate committee suggested that "certain streams be preserved in their free flowing condition because their natural scenic, scientific, esthetic, and recreational values outweigh their value for water development and control purposes now and in the future."

The study team said in announcing the 64-river study plan that the need to identify and preserve a nationwide system of free flowing and undeveloped rivers, or segments of rivers, is urgent.

Youth Fatally Hurt As Auto Flips Twice

Lincoln Star Special

Friend—The death of a popular Friend High School junior boy as a result of a traffic accident Wednesday night has saddened this Saline County town and cast a shadow over school activities.

Thomas Lee Ferguson, 17, died 20 minutes after the car he was riding in flipped over "at least twice" within the city limits Wednesday on U.S. 6.

In the car with young Ferguson were two other FHS juniors, Carolyn Zumpfe and Leonard Murphy, both 17. Carolyn was driving. Neither was hospitalized.

The three were returning fr junior play practice when the accident occurred.

Ferguson was a member of the FHS football team. The team was to have played Davenport for the Pioneer Conference championship at Clay Center Friday night.

The boy's death "struck the school quite badly," said Saline County Atty. Bernard Ach, and cast doubt on the football game and the class play, scheduled for next week.

The accident occurred when the car Ferguson was riding in passed two other cars, then rolled over as it returned to its own lane, Ac said.

Young Ferguson was thrown from the car and died at a Friend hospital.

Ach said seat belts would have saved the boy's life.

The boy was described as "quiet and well-mannered, the kind of a boy who doesn't have any enemies."

Police Look For Man In Exposure Incident

Police Thursday were looking for a man, about 30, who exposed himself to an 11-year-old girl near 1600 So. Trimble.

Police said the girl told them the man called her over to the window of his late model sports car and while talking to her exposed himself.

She said the man was heavy set, wore a dark suit and sunglasses.

Niobrara May Be Preserved In Natural State

Washington (AP) — The Niobrara River in Nebraska appears to have a good chance of gaining further consideration for inclusion in a proposed system of wild national rivers.

The Niobrara, it was learned Thursday, is one of a dozen or so rivers which may be studied in detail for possible selection among the free-flowing streams to be preserved in their natural state for recreational purposes.

Sixty-four rivers or river segments were selected last August by a joint study team from the Interior and Agriculture departments for consideration for the system. Preliminary studies have eliminated 50 or more of them, available information indi-

The study team, which sent reconnaissance groups to make personal inspections of the 64 rivers, is reported to have about finished its work.

An announcement of the study team's recommendations may be forthcoming in the next week or two.

One of the primary purposes of the detailed investigations would be to design and test methods for a systematic evaluation of the worth of the rivers for recreation and related uses.

The wild rivers study grew out of recommendations by the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission and the Senate Committee on National Water Resources.

The Senate committee suggested that "certain streams be preserved in their free flowing condition because their natural scenic, scientific, esthetic, and recreational values outweigh their value for water development and control purposes now and in the future."

The study team said in announcing the 64-river study plan that the need to identify and preserve a nationwide system of free flowing and undeveloped rivers, or segments of rivers, is urgent.

PCA Loans Up 33% To Set New Record

A record high of $3.5 million in loans outstanding in the Lincoln area as of Sept. 30 was reported Thursday by the farmer-owned Lincoln Production Credit Association.

The total of PCA loans outstanding throughout the state on Sept. 30 was $58 million, a 26% increase over statewide loans on the same date last year.

Youth Fatally Hurt As Auto Flips Twice

Lincoln Star Special

Friend—The death of a popular Friend High School junior boy as a result of a traffic accident Wednesday night has saddened this Saline County town and cast a shadow over school activities.

Thomas Lee Ferguson, 17, died 20 minutes after the car he was riding in flipped over "at least twice" within the city limits Wednesday on U.S. 6.

In the car with young Ferguson were two other FHS juniors, Carolyn Zumpfe and Leonard Murphy, both 17. Carolyn was driving. Neither was hospitalized.

The three were returning fr[om] junior play practice when the accident occurred.

Ferguson was a member of the FHS football team. The team was to have played Davenport for the Pioneer Conference championship at Clay Center Friday night.

The boy's death "struck the school quite badly," said Saline County Atty. Bernard Ach, and cast doubt on the football game and the class play, scheduled for next week.

The accident occurred when the car Ferguson was riding in passed two other cars, then rolled over as it returned to its own lane, Ach said.

Young Ferguson was thrown from the car and died at a Friend hospital.

Ach said seat belts would have saved the boy's life.

The boy was described as "quiet and well-mannered, the kind of a boy who doesn't have any enemies."

Police Look For Man In Exposure Incident

Police Thursday were looking for a man, about 30, who exposed himself to an 11-year-old girl near 1600 So. Trimble.

Police said the girl told them the man called her over to the window of his late model sports car and while talking to her exposed himself.

She said the man was heavy set, wore a dark suit and sunglasses.

2 Banks Report Rise In October Clearings

Lincoln's two downtown banks Thursday reported that October 1963 bank clearings totaled $50,959,101.

This compares with $50,200,003 for the same month in 1962.

The total for this year, January through October, is $525,135,172.

LOOMIS & HOYT
FAMILY SIZE DUPLEX—Here is a property that says, "Home and income". And means it! Quality built for a minimum of upkeep and long life, it's like 2 family brick homes. Each unit has a living room with fireplace, separate dining room, kitchen with eating space and half bath on first floor. 3 bedrooms and full bath on second. Third floor is an all purpose room with half bath. So good it won't last long. So unusual we're not apt to have another like it soon.
